41,000 to Be Drafted In October, Is Report

Marines Will Get 5,000 Men, Army Others—Peak Since March

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Defense Department today called for the drafting of 41,000 men in October—5,000 for the marine corps and 36,000 for the army.

The total for the month is in increase of 6,820 over that previously asked for September, when the army is to get 28,000 and the marines 6,180.

The marine corps resorted to the draft in August for the first time since the start of the Korean campaign.

Under the call, October will be the third month of drafting for the marines:

In the August-October period the marines expect to draft 18,180 men in addition to obtaining recruits through a continuing volunteer program.

The October call for 41,000 is the highest monthly draft quota since March when 80,000 men were requested, all for the army.

Drafting dropped to a low for the Korean war period in July when only 15,000 men were inducted by the army.

KerhonksonHouse Burns in Storm

Lightning May Have Hit Newkirk Residence on Main Street

During a severe electric storm early this morning the residence of Philip Newkirk, Main street, Kerhonkson, was destroyed by fire. The house had been vacated only yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk. He was a former guard at the Napanoch Institution and had been recently transferred to Elmira.

The property, known as the Maggie Van Etten homestead, was located about 50 feet from the Deyo lumber yard. At the time it was raining and the lumber yard was wet down. Members of the Kerhonkson fire department under Chief Harry Decker had little difficulty in confining the flames to the house.

It was 5:30 a. m. when the alarm was sounded. A driver for Cohen's bakery was about to start out on his route when he observed the flames and sounded the warning. At the time he was under the impression the lumber yard was on fire.

While not definitely established it is believed the fire may have started from lightning.

The Newkirk family purchased the property and moved in about three years ago. Before they were settled in their home there was considerable damage to the two story frame house by fire.

While Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk had moved out Tuesday not all of their furnishings had been shipped. What remained was destroyed. The house is a complete loss.

Publisher Found Dead

Girard, Kas., Aug. 1 (AP)—E. Haldeman-Julius, 62, nationally known book publisher who was under federal sentence for income tax evasion, was found dead in a swimming pool at his home last night. Dr. W. O. Rinehart, coroner, performed an autopsy and said death was caused by accidental drowning. The publisher's nude body was found by his wife, Sue, after she had been gone from home about an hour. She said her husband announced he was going to swim while she went to a restaurant to get something to eat. When she returned she found his clothes besides the pool and his body in the water.

Carleson Reily, 41, Arrested; Woman Is Found Dead

Port Ewen Woman, 45, Suffered Severe Injuries, Bruhn Discloses

Mrs. Kathryn V. Taylor, 45, Minturn street, Port Ewen, formerly of Brooklyn, was found dead in her home Tuesday morning. Death was from severe injuries which were disclosed by an autopsy. Among the injuries was a broken nose, severe body bruises and injuries.

Carleson B. Reily, 41, who has been residing at the Taylor home for some time, according to District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, was picked up for questioning and later placed under arrest on a charge of manslaughter, first degree. Arraigned before Justice Percy Bush of the town of Ulster, Reily waived examination and was held for grand jury action.

At the time Mrs. Taylor's body was found in her home, she had been dead about 24 hours, according to the autopsy which was performed by Dr. Herbert Derman and Dr. L. E. Sanford of Port Ewen.

Authorities Notified

Authorities were notified of the death of Mrs. Taylor by Dr. Sanford's wife who had gone to the Taylor home following a call for the doctor who was away. Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg was notified of the situation by Mrs. Sanford and he with Sheriff Cluett Schantz, County Investigator Leonard Belmore, Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and Coroner Michael Galietta went to Port Ewen to investigate.

Tuesday morning Reily went to High Falls and requested Mrs. Morris of Mossy Brook Road to accompany him to Port Ewen to the Taylor home. On arrival she found Mrs. Taylor dead and advised that a physician and the authorities be notified.

It was then that an attempt was made to get Dr. Sanford and the sheriff's office was notified.

Lavery's Suit Has Reversal in Court

Los Angeles, Aug. 1 (AP)—Screen writer Emmet Lavery's $1,000,000 damages suit agaisnt Mrs. Lela Rogers and eight others suffered a reversal yesterday.

Superior Judge Arnold ruled inadmissable copies of a demand for correction of statements made by Mrs. Rogers, mother of screen actress Ginger Rogers, against Lavery during a 1947 radio debate.

Lavery's attorneys claimed the documents were served on her, the American Broadcasting Co., and Town Hall, Inc., of New York, but the remarks were not rectified.

The effect of the court's ruling is to restrict Lavery to sue only for special damages (approximately $200,000) for loss of income. His suit was based on a charge that Mrs. Rogers' remarks slandered him and caused a play he had written to be a financial failure.

The court held that the demand for corrections had been served within the 20-day limit as required by California law, but that they were not specific and therefore inadmissable.

Allies Take Big Hill in East Korea

'Fool Mountain' Drive Takes Some Lives; Called 'Most Savage' Action

Ridge Overlooks Area Over Which Allies Put Supplies

Eastern Korean Front, July 31 (Delayed) (AP)—"Fool Mountain" was stormed by Allied infantrymen who knew they could be sacrificing their lives in the last days of the Korean war.

Some died, but the high ridges, from which the Reds had been able to watch every allied move, were taken.

In any event, the capture of this towering hill mass in East Korea Monday can be reported as one of the war's most savage actions—a five-day assault while truce talks droned on at Kaesong.

It was by far the largest action since the armistice conference began—in fact, the only bit of "real war" since the delegates first met July 10.

Why, then, did the allies take it?

"Fool Mountain" — nobody knows how it got its name—is higher than three Empire State buildings, taller than six Washington monuments.

Actually it is a steep ridge.

From its heights, the reorganized and retrained North Korean Army watched every move in the allied lines and on the main supply route to them.

Was Bad Situation

It was a bad situation. The hill had to be taken or life in allied lines would be unbearable—and lives can be frittered away in bad positions as easily as in assault.

From their observation posts in the rocky crags, the Korean Reds continually called in mortar and artillery fire against the allies, forcing all road traffic to run the gantlet on its way to the front, again and again.

Worse, "fool mountain" had three guardian hills—placed as strategically as the bastion of a scientifically-planned fortress.

From west to east, these shielded "fool mountain"—two of them nearly as high as the great crest itself, with "no number" hill on the west slightly lower than the others.

Covered With Pillboxes

Each hill was covered with pillboxes, either of rock or logs with a massive earth covering. For five nights in a row before the jump off date of July 26 the air force bombed and blasted the hill positions.

A total of 37½ tons of bombs was dropped in the face of some of the heaviest machinegun fire the air force has met in the Korean war. The hills were full of 51 caliber machineguns, and they often opened fire when the planes were still 500 feet high. It was perhaps the first time in the war the Reds so boldly faced allied air might.

Made 2,000 Yards

At dawn on the 26th the infantry started up the guardian hills. They made 2,000 yards and then were stopped cold. Then began a seesaw fight that went on for five days and parts of five nights. The main assault was directed against "no number" hill for if it could be taken the winners could pour

Fifth Ward Is First to Get Block Warden Enrollment

The Fifth Ward is the first of the wards in Kingston to complete the organization of its block warden services under Civil Defense.

A total of 18 men and six women have already been assigned to specific locations as air raid block wardens. In charge of the block wardens and responsible for their recruitment are the Fifth Ward leaders, Anthony Alecca, Alderman Samuel J. Perry and Supervisor William Sinsabaugh.

Preliminary instructions and orientation for the wardens will be given at a meeting 7:30 p. m. Thursday at St. Mary's Hall on North street. Other residents of the Fifth Ward who may wish to volunteer may report at that time.

Fifth Ward residents already assigned posts are William Sinsabaugh, Samuel Perry, Louis DeCicco, Thomas Naccarato, Anthony Alecca, Jr., William Washington, Samuel MacCaline, Herbert Rougier, Thomas Peoples, Joseph Sottile, Stanley Snow, Joseph Perry, Dominic Perry, Peter Fiore, Michael Naccarato, Arthur Bouchard, Edwin Ashby and Peter Altamarie. Also Mrs. Louis Perry, Frances Alecca, Mrs. Joseph Amato, Susan Perry, Elizabeth Alecca and Mrs. Edwin Ashby.

"The patriotic response of citizens to the call for air wardens, the key workers of the entire Civil Defense effort, is to be highly commended," Thomas Saccoman, air warden service chief, commented today.

Saccoman noted that the aldermen and supervisors of Kingston's 13 wards are cooperating fully with the Civil Defense program and have assured a complete block-by-block coverage of their respective wards.

At least half of the air warden personnel should be women, Saccoman said, to insure complete coverage during the hours when men are usually away from home at work.

Leaders in each ward are to submit a list of air wardens to Saccoman. Included in the list should be name, post, home address and phone number of each warden.

Civil Defense Director Sherwood E. Davis will issue directions as they are received from the New York Civil Defense Commission. The Civil Defense headquarters at the city hall is available for Civil Defense use and meetings.

Names of air warden service leaders in the wards are as follows:

First—Craig Plough, Warren Simmons.

Second—(First District) Fred

Economic Laws May Cut Price of Beef

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP) — Agriculture Department officials expect the economic laws of supply and demand to accomplish this fall what Congress refused—a further rollback in price of beef cattle.

This expectation is based largely upon past history and the knowledge that there are more cattle on farms than a year ago. Marketings of cattle have always increased in the late summer and fall, reflecting the end of the pasture grazing season.

In extending price control authority, Congress prohibited the government from carrying out two additional 4½ per cent rollbacks in cattle prices which the Office of Price Stabilization has scheduled for Aug. 1 and Oct. 1.

Department experts, however, doubt prices will drop as much as the planned nine per cent rollback.

President Reports He Will Plug for Stronger Controls

Halleck Says Measure Will Work, Despite Views Held by Truman

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—President Truman prepared today to hammer again on Congress' door for a "good, strong price control law" to replace what he called the "deficient" act he signed last night.

Mr. Truman emphasized that he accepted the new, one-year defense production act—"the worst I ever had to sign"—only because he could not risk the lapse of its rent ceiling and strong priority control clauses.

But the bitterly disputed law was on the books, and its Republican and Democratic backers defended it against the angry White House blasts. Their views were summed up by the veteran GOP leader, Rep. Halleck (Ind.), who said:

"It's a bill which, properly applied and administered, will effect control despite Mr. Truman's statements."

At the center of the storm, Michael V. DiSalle's Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) hastily explored techniques for lifting price ceilings to the levels now required.

Orders Rollbacks

DiSalle ordered thousands of price rollbacks — and a goodly number of roll-forwards—into effect last night in the final hours before Mr. Truman signed the new measure.

New ceilings, held back for a month during the congressional debate, were applied to consumer items like radios, television sets, refrigerator and other home appliances, shoes, apparel, cotton textiles, wool yarns and fabrics,

Trautman Sees End Of Minors if Rule On Limits Dies

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—George C. Trautman, boss of the minor leagues, said today the minors will die if baseball drops the rule that now makes it almost impossible for one club to move into another team's territory.

And thus, without even mentioning the Pacific Coast League by name, he jumped smack in the middle of a congressional argument over whether the major leagues should expand to the west coast.

Even before Trautman took the stand to testify before the House Judiciary Subcommittee studying baseball's complicated setup, its chairman, Rep. Celler (D.-N.Y.), told reporters:

The present major league alignment, with all teams in the east, is "intolerable."

"There must be changes," he said. "And I'm going to insist on

Press Told Line Is Not Defensible

Secretary Says Marshall Has Made Clear Idea of Line Different From Parallel

Declines Comment

Exact Things Desired Not Discussed Before Newsmen

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson rejected flatly today the Communist proposal that a buffer zone be set up in Korea along the 38th Parallel.

Acheson told a news conference the Reds wish to go back to a line over which they launched an unprovoked attack—to start the Korean war—and he said that is not acceptable.

He added that Secretary of Defense Marshall has made it entirely clear that any demarcation line must be a defensible line.

Events have shown, Acheson said, that this is not true of the 38th Parallel.

Political Uses Sought

He declared that the talks now under way at Kaesong are essentially military talks, but that the Communists have been trying to use them for a political purpose.

By this he apparently meant that instead of being willing to stop the fighting where the armies now are and where both sides would have strong defense positions, the Reds have tried to get all of North Korea again in Communist control while leaving the south to the allied forces. This would be a return to the situation which existed before the Communist assault last summer.

At the moment, Acheson said, truce talks seem to be stalled. The negotiators have had several fruitless meetings.

Acheson also said that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway and his delegation to the Kaesong meetings have handled their share of the negotiations forcefully and soundly.

No Feelings Expressed

Acheson did not express either optimism or pessimism on the progress of the talks but neither would he say that they were deadlocked.

He declined to state precisely what the UN negotiators were seeking in the way of a buffer zone location. Other officials have made clear that the UN proposal for an armistics line is based on the present battle line.

The Pyongyang (North Korean) radio said the UN seeks a line running from Kosong, 27 miles north of the 38th Parallel on the east coast, to the Ongjin peninsula on the west coast. The broadcast added:

"Thus the Americans try to rob a large territory inside North Korea. The Americans are making every effort to avert the arrival of peace to Korea."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The position of the treasury July 30: Net budget receipts, $88,890,-268.69; budget expenditures, $162,-384,738.60; cash balance, $5,666,-766,891.00; customs receipts for month, $44,917,676.48; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $2,426,-731,909.11; budget expenditures fiscal year, $4,170,581,643.00; budget deficit, $1,745,849,733.89; total debt, $255,565,260,293.45; increase over previous day, $33,-384,277.56; gold assets, $21,758,-516,126.77.

G. J. Corbett Dies

Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—George J. Corbett, 69, lawyer and sportsman, died yesterday. He has a summer home at nearby Westbury. At one time he was owner of the Bridgeport, Conn., baseball club. He also was a breeder and racer of thoroughbred horses. Senior member of a Wall Street law firm, Corbett once practiced with a former mayor of Hartford, Conn., Thomas J. Spellacey.

Wilson Says Woodstock Is Determined to Have Bank

Supervisor Expresses Disappointment at Trust Company Decision

In a statement issued today, Kenneth L. Wilson, supervisor of the Town of Woodstock, expressed disappointment at the decision of the board of directors of the Kingston Trust Company made yesterday afternoon, rejecting a proposal to establish a branch of that bank in Woodstock.

Supervisor Wilson added that the people of Woodstock would continue their efforts to obtain banking facilities for the community either by means of a branch of an Albany bank or by establishing a wholly local bank.

The statement follows:

"It was a great disappointment to me to receive yesterday the decision of the board of directors of the Kingston Trust Company rejecting the proposal to establish a branch bank at Woodstock. I am

Mystery Balloon Floats Eastward

Airline, Fighter Pilots Report Sphere at High Altitudes

Youngstown, O., Aug. 1 (AP)—A mysterious silver balloon, 150 to 200 feet in diameter, was drifting high over the earth today towards the eastern coast of the United States.

Where it came from, what it was, no one could immediately explain. But airline pilots—two United and one Capital—and two army fighter plane pilots agreed after looking at it that:

It was soaring with the wind, at a speed of about 50 miles an hour, and at an altitude of 30,000 to 50,000 feet.

The balloon was first spotted over Cleveland, shortly after daybreak, and hundreds of people there could see it plainly, despite its high altitude. The balloon had no basket for occupants, observers said.

An hour or so later it was over Warren, then Youngstown, then about 15 miles south of Mercer, Pa., and heading in the direction of Harrisburg, Pa.

Seams Detected

Fred Branden, meteorologist at Youngstown Municipal Airport, examined the balloon through a high powered telescope and said he detected seams on its surface.

Selfridge Field reported two F-86s intercepted the balloon at 45,000 feet between Cleveland and Akron and reported it "still going up." Selfridge Field fliers said they believed it was a weather balloon, but were not absolutely certain. They said it probably will keep rising until it bursts. The F-86s returned because of fuel shortage. A flight from Greater Pittsburgh Air Base now is looking for the balloon.

Chester Watson, senior air control officer at the Cleveland Hopkins Airport, said the balloon, as reported by three airlines pilots is between 150 to 200 feet in diameter.

Three Are Hurt As Trucks Collide

Accident Occurs on Road at Highland; Two Are in Hospital

Three people were injured in an accident on Route 9W at 7:25 a. m. today involving two tractor-trailers proceeding north on the four lane concrete highway about 500 feet north of the Highland State Police barracks. Two of the injured were taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie. What caused the two tractor-trailers to collide is not known and is being further investigated by state police.

A tractor-trailer operated by Frederick Jubar, 33, of 15 Rose avenue, Oneonta, was proceeding north and overtaking another rig operated by William Willis, 50, of 46 Church street, Cortland, N. Y., which was proceeding up a slight grade at 10 to 15 miles an hour and on a slight curve. The vehicle operated by Jubar struck the rear trailer wheels of the vehicle operated by Willis with the right side of the tractor operated by Jubar as he endeavored to pass the Willis vehicle.

Tractor Is Wrecked

The tractor of Jubar was wrecked. The tractor was owned by Benjamin Rotherberg of Stamford and the trailer was owned by C. E. Moore of Prattsville.

The tractor operated by Willis was owned by Norton Knapp of Cortland, and the trailer was owned by Terminal Freight Transfer Company, Inc., of South Kearney, N. J.

Riding with her husband was Mary Ann Willis, 23, of Cortland, who received a bruised nose. Willis received possible fractures of ribs and was taken to Vassar Hospital. Jubar received contusions of the knee, possible fracture of the right clavicle and lacerations of the forehead. He was also taken to Vassar Hospital.

Lodge Hints 7 Million Army Soon Under Atlantic Pact

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—Senator Lodge (R.-Mass.) hinted today that the Atlantic Pact Army in western Europe may number some 7,000,000 men within "the next few years."

While other senators wrangled over details of the administration's new $8,500,000,000 foreign aid program, Lodge told a reporter this country must step in with full support.

Declaring that the United States should have a completely trained and organized field army of about 350,000 in Europe during the next year, he added:

"In the next few years this should be no more than five per cent of the total forces there."

The 350,000 figure Lodge proposed for the American contribution to the international army being organized under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, is five per cent of 7,000,000.

Eisenhower's deputy and chief of staff in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, was called to testify today (9:30 a. m. E.S.T.) in the foreign aid plan.

Hearings are before the joint foreign relations and armed services committees and behind closed doors.

Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) and other Republicans on the two committees said that Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, had disagreed with the testimony by Secretary of Defense Marshall that U. S. Army forces

No Feelings Expressed

Acheson did not express either optimism or pessimism on the progress of the talks but neither would he say that they were deadlocked.

He declined to state precisely what the UN negotiators were seeking in the way of a buffer zone location. Other officials have made clear that the UN proposal for an armistics line is based on the present battle line.

The Pyongyang (North Korean) radio said the UN seeks a line running from Kosong, 27 miles north of the 38th Parallel on the east coast, to the Ongjin peninsula on the west coast. The broadcast added:

"Thus the Americans try to rob a large territory inside North Korea. The Americans are making every effort to avert the arrival of peace to Korea."

Wilson Says Woodstock Is Determined to Have Bank

Supervisor Expresses Disappointment at Trust Company Decision

In a statement issued today, Kenneth L. Wilson, supervisor of the Town of Woodstock, expressed disappointment at the decision of the board of directors of the Kingston Trust Company made yesterday afternoon, rejecting a proposal to establish a branch of that bank in Woodstock.

Supervisor Wilson added that the people of Woodstock would continue their efforts to obtain banking facilities for the community either by means of a branch of an Albany bank or by establishing a wholly local bank.

The statement follows:

"It was a great disappointment to me to receive yesterday the decision of the board of directors of the Kingston Trust Company rejecting the proposal to establish a branch bank at Woodstock. I am (Continued on Page 20, Col. 4)

Mystery Balloon Floats Eastward

Airline, Fighter Pilots Report Sphere at High Altitudes

Youngstown, O., Aug. 1 (AP)—A mysterious silver balloon, 150 to 200 feet in diameter, was drifting high over the earth today towards the eastern coast of the United States.

Where it came from, what it was, no one could immediately explain. But airline pilots—two United and one Capital—and two army fighter plane pilots agreed after looking at it that:

It was soaring with the wind, at a speed of about 50 miles an hour, and at an altitude of 30,000 to 50,000 feet.

The balloon was first spotted over Cleveland, shortly after daybreak, and hundreds of people there could see it plainly, despite its high altitude. The balloon had no basket for occupants, observers said.

An hour or so later it was over Warren, then Youngstown, then about 15 miles south of Mercer, Pa., and heading in the direction of Harrisburg, Pa.

Seams Detected

Fred Branden, meteorologist at Youngstown Municipal Airport, examined the balloon through a high powered telescope and said he detected seams on its surface.

Selfridge Field reported two F-86s intercepted the balloon at 45,000 feet between Cleveland and Akron and reported it "still going up." Selfridge Field fliers said they believed it was a weather balloon, but were not absolutely certain. They said it probably will keep rising until it bursts. The F-86s returned because of fuel shortage. A flight from Greater Pittsburgh Air Base now is looking for the balloon.

Chester Watson, senior air control officer at the Cleveland Hopkins Airport, said the balloon, as reported by three airlines pilots is between 150 to 200 feet in diameter.

Three Are Hurt As Trucks Collide

Accident Occurs on Road at Highland; Two Are in Hospital

Three people were injured in an accident on Route 9W at 7:25 a. m. today involving two tractor-trailers proceeding north on the four lane concrete highway about 500 feet north of the Highland State Police barracks. Two of the injured were taken to Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie. What caused the two tractor-trailers to collide is not known and is being further investigated by state police.

A tractor-trailer operated by Frederick Jubar, 33, of 15 Rose avenue, Oneonta, was proceeding north and overtaking another rig operated by William Willis, 50, of 46 Church street, Cortland, N. Y., which was proceeding up a slight grade at 10 to 15 miles an hour and on a slight curve. The vehicle operated by Jubar struck the rear trailer wheels of the vehicle operated by Willis with the right side of the tractor operated by Jubar as he endeavored to pass the Willis vehicle.

Tractor Is Wrecked

The tractor of Jubar was wrecked. The tractor was owned by Benjamin Rotherberg of Stamford and the trailer was owned by C. E. Moore of Prattsville.

The tractor operated by Willis was owned by Norton Knapp of Cortland, and the trailer was owned by Terminal Freight Transfer Company, Inc., of South Kearney, N. J.

Riding with her husband was Mary Ann Willis, 23, of Cortland, who received a bruised nose. Willis received possible fractures of ribs and was taken to Vassar Hospital. Jubar received contusions of the knee, possible fracture of the right clavicle and lacerations of the forehead. He was also taken to Vassar Hospital.

It damaged the roof of one. The officers moved the limb clear of traffic and notified the public works department.

41,000 to Be Drafted In October, Is Report

Marines Will Get 5,000 Men; Army Others—Peak Since March

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Defense Department today called for the drafting of 41,000 men in October—5,000 for the marine corps and 36,000 for the army.

The total for the month is in increase of 6,820 over that previously asked for September, when the army is to get 28,000 and the marines 6,180.

The marine corps resorted to the draft in August for the first time since the start of the Korean campaign.

Under the call, October will be the third month of drafting for the marines:

In the August-October period the marines expect to draft 18,180 men in addition to obtaining recruits through a continuing volunteer program.

The October call for 41,000 is the highest monthly draft quota since March when 80,000 men were requested, all for the army.

Drafting dropped to a low for the Korean war period in July when only 15,000 men were inducted by the army.

Lightning May Have Hit Newkirk Residence on Main Street

During a severe electric storm early this morning the residence of Philip Newkirk, Main street, Kerhonkson, was destroyed by fire. The house had been vacated only yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk. He was a former guard at the Napanoch Institution and had been recently transferred to Elmira.

The property, known as the Maggie Van Etten homestead, was located about 50 feet from the Deyo lumber yard. At the time it was raining and the lumber yard was wet down. Members of the Kerhonkson fire department under Chief Harry Decker had little difficulty in confining the flames to the house.

It was 5:30 a. m. when the alarm was sounded. A driver for Cohen's bakery was about to start out on his route when he observed the flames and sounded the warning. At the time he was under the impression the lumber yard was on fire.

While not definitely established it is believed the fire may have started from lightning.

The Newkirk family purchased the property and moved in about three years ago. Before they were settled in their home there was considerable damage to the two story frame house by fire.

While Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk had moved out Tuesday not all of their furnishings had been shipped. What remained was destroyed. The house is a complete loss.

Publisher Found Dead

Girard, Kas., Aug. 1 (AP) — E. Haldeman-Julius, 62, nationally known book publisher who was under federal sentence for income tax evasion, was found dead in a swimming pool at his home last night. Dr. W. O. Rinehart, coroner, performed an autopsy and said death was caused by accidental drowning. The publisher's nude body was found by his wife, Sue, after she had been gone from home about an hour. She said her husband announced he was going to swim while she went to a restaurant to get something to eat. When she returned she found his clothes besides the pool and his body in the water.

Lavery's Suit Has Reversal in Court

Los Angeles, Aug. 1 (AP)—Screen writer Emmet Lavery's $1,000,000 damages suit agaisnt Mrs. Lela Rogers and eight others suffered a reversal yesterday.

Superior Judge Arnold ruled inadmissable copies of a demand for correction of statements made by Mrs. Rogers, mother of screen actress Ginger Rogers, against Lavery during a 1947 radio debate.

Lavery's attorneys claimed the documents were served on her, the American Broadcasting Co., and Town Hall, Inc., of New York, but the remarks were not rectified.

The effect of the court's ruling is to restrict Lavery to sue only for special damages (approximately $200,000) for loss of income. His suit was based on a charge that Mrs. Rogers' remarks slandered him and caused a play he had written to be a financial failure.

The court held that the demand for corrections had been served within the 20-day limit as required by California law, but that they were not specific and therefore inadmissable.

Fifth Ward Is First to Get Block Warden Enrollment

The Fifth Ward is the first of the wards in Kingston to complete the organization of its block warden services under Civil Defense.

A total of 18 men and six women have already been assigned to specific locations as air raid block wardens. In charge of the block wardens and responsible for their recruitment are the Fifth Ward leaders, Anthony Alecca, Alderman Samuel J. Perry and Supervisor William Sinsabaugh.

Preliminary instructions and orientation for the wardens will be given at a meeting 7:30 p. m. Thursday at St. Mary's Hall on North street. Other residents of the Fifth Ward who may wish to volunteer may report at that time.

Fifth Ward residents already assigned posts are William Sinsabaugh, Samuel Perry, Louis DeCicco, Thomas Naccarato, Anthony Alecca, Jr., William Washington, Samuel MacCaline, Herbert Rougier, Thomas Peoples, Joseph Sottile, Stanley Snow, Joseph Perry, Dominic Perry, Peter Fiore, Michael Naccarato, Arthur Bouchard, Edwin Ashby and Peter Altamarie. Also Mrs. Louis Perry, Frances Alecca, Mrs. Joseph Amato, Susan Perry, Elizabeth Alecca and Mrs. Edwin Ashby.

"The patriotic response of citizens to the call for air wardens, the key workers of the entire Civil Defense effort, is to be highly commended," Thomas Saccoman, air warden service chief, commented today.

Saccoman noted that the aldermen and supervisors of Kingston's 13 wards are cooperating fully with the Civil Defense program and have assured a complete block-by-block coverage of their respective wards.

At least half of the air warden personnel should be women, Saccoman said, to insure complete coverage during the hours when men are usually away from home at work.

Leaders in each ward are to submit a list of air wardens to Saccoman. Included in the list should be name, post, home address and phone number of each warden.

Civil Defense Director Sherwood E. Davis will issue directions as they are received from the New York Civil Defense Commission. The Civil Defense headquarters at the city hall is available for Civil Defense use and meetings.

Names of air warden service leaders in the wards are as follows:

First—Craig Plough, Warren Simmons.

Lodge Hints 7 Million Army Soon Under Atlantic Pact

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—Senator Lodge (R.-Mass.) hinted today that the Atlantic Pact Army in western Europe may number some 7,000,000 men within "the next few years."

While other senators wrangled over details of the administration's new $8,500,000,000 foreign aid program, Lodge told a reporter this country must step in with full support.

Declaring that the United States should have a completely trained and organized field army of about 350,000 in Europe during the next year, he added:

"In the next few years this should be no more than five per cent of the total forces there."

The 350,000 figure Lodge proposed for the American contribution to the international army being organized under Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, is five per cent of 7,000,000.

Eisenhower's deputy and chief of staff in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, was called to testify today (9:30 a. m. E.S.T.) in the foreign aid plan.

Hearings are before the joint foreign relations and armed services committees and behind closed doors.

Senator Brewster (R.-Me.) and other Republicans on the two committees said that Gen. J. Lawton Collins, army chief of staff, had disagreed with the testimony by Secretary of Defense Marshall that U. S. Army forces (Continued on Page 20, Col. 3)

Do You Remember

by
By SOPHIE MILLER

The most thrilling part of writing this column is the many odd books, pictures and papers that are brought right to my doorstep, which otherwise I would never see. I never know what I will get with my morning mail. This morning I found a little book printed in 1908 called "Steamboat Navigation and Railroad Transportation" by Henry Whittemore. He certainly collected a wealth of information in this little 80 page book. It would take me two life times to gather all the facts and a third lifetime to arrange it as he did. I take it, Fred Longendyke, of 88 Hasbrouck avenue dropped the book off at my door, for through him I also saw for the first time, "Neely's Photographs — Fighting in the Philippines." There is also a picture post-card enclosed of two side-wheelers at our Rondout Dock, which I described in a previous column.

I never heard of John Fitch in connection with the steamboat. I only know the name of Robert Fulton but this book gives many facts on Fitch. John Fitch, who began his experiments as a steamboat inventor in 1785 wrote to a friend in June, 1792, "It would be much easier to carry a first rate man-of-war by steam than a boat . . . nor would the weight of machinery be felt. This, sir, will be the method of crossing the Atlantic whether I bring it to perfection or not." On another occasion he said: "Gentlemen, although I shall not live to see the time, you will, when steamboats will be preferred to all other means of conveyance, and especially for passengers, and they will be particularly useful in the navigation of the Mississippi." The following statement was found in his journal after his death: "The day will come when some more powerful man will get fame and riches from my invention, but nobody will believe that poor John Fitch can do anything worthy of attention." Of course we know today this all came true.

Although this item is not dated, perhaps students may wish to look it up: Oliver Evans, inventor of the "Eructor-Amphibiolis" — steamboat and steam carriage combined — said: "The time will come when people will travel in stages moved by steam engines from one city to another almost as fast as birds fly, 15 or 20 miles an hour. Passing through the air with such velocity; changing the scene in such rapid succession will be the most exhilarating exercise. A carriage (steam) will set out from Washington in the morning; the passengers will breakfast at Baltimore, dine at Philadelphia, and sup in New York the same day. To accomplish this two sets of railways will be laid, so nearly level as not in any way to deviate more than two degrees from a horizontal line, made of wood or iron, or smooth paths of broken stone or gravel with a rail to guide the carriages, so that they may pass each other in different directions and travel by night." So that also has come to being in our generation. The dreams and hopes of yesterdays are ours for the asking today.

International Farm

Centralia, Ill., (AP)—Chinese Japanese and American sisters get along with nary a skirmish—at least in the Albert Sharwells' Effingham county, Ill., poultry lot. They imported the foreign breeds in hopes of crossing them with American strains. The foreign hens have short drumsticks, squatty chassises and white plumes.

Flood Relief

"The real work of the Red Cross in the flooded area of the middle west is just beginning. Its heaviest task is just ahead. Months from now, long after the memory of these floods slips from the minds of people in other sections, the Red Cross will still be on the job assisting victims. The money the Red Cross provides for rebuilding a house or refurnishing it, or for helping a family find the means to help itself, will be given outright, not lent." These were the words of President Truman in asking the American public to contribute at least $5,000,000 to the Red Cross to aid the disaster-stricken people of Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Illinois. Won't you help—through your local Red Cross Chapter.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

The most thrilling part of writing this column is the many odd books, pictures and papers that are brought right to my doorstep, which otherwise I would never see. I never know what I will get with my morning mail. This morning I found a little book printed in 1908 called "Steamboat Navigation and Railroad Transportation" by Henry Whittemore. He certainly collected a wealth of information in this little 80 page book. It would take me two life times to gather all the facts and a third lifetime to arrange it as he did. I take it, Fred Longendyke, of 88 Hasbrouck avenue dropped the book off at my door, for through him I also saw for the first time, "Neely's Photographs — Fighting in the Philippines." There is also a picture post-card enclosed of two side-wheelers at our Rondout Dock, which I described in a previous column.

I never heard of John Fitch in connection with the steamboat. I only know the name of Robert Fulton but this book gives many facts on Fitch. John Fitch, who began his experiments as a steamboat inventor in 1785 wrote to a friend in June, 1792, "It would be much easier to carry a first rate man-of-war by steam than a boat . . . nor would the weight of machinery be felt. This, sir, will be the method of crossing the Atlantic whether I bring it to perfection or not." On another occasion he said: "Gentlemen, although I shall not live to see the time, you will, when steamboats will be preferred to all other means of conveyance, and especially for passengers, and they will be particularly useful in the navigation of the Mississippi." The following statement was found in his journal after his death: "The day will come when some more powerful man will get fame and riches from my invention, but nobody will believe that poor John Fitch can do anything worthy of attention." Of course we know today this all came true.

Although this item is not dated, perhaps students may wish to look it up: Oliver Evans, inventor of the "Eructor-Amphibiolis" — steamboat and steam carriage combined — said: "The time will come when people will travel in stages moved by steam engines from one city to another almost as fast as birds fly, 15 or 20 miles an hour. Passing through the air with such velocity; changing the scene in such rapid succession will be the most exhilarating exercise. A carriage (steam) will set out from Washington in the morning; the passengers will breakfast at Baltimore, dine at Philadelphia, and sup in New York the same day. To accomplish this two sets of railways will be laid, so nearly level as not in any way to deviate more than two degrees from a horizontal line, made of wood or iron, or smooth paths of broken stone or gravel with a rail to guide the carriages, so that they may pass each other in different directions and travel by night." So that also has come to being in our generation. The dreams and hopes of yesterdays are ours for the asking today.

International Farm

Centralia, Ill., (AP)—Chinese Japanese and American sisters get along with nary a skirmish—at least in the Albert Sharwells' Effingham county, Ill., poultry lot. They imported the foreign breeds in hopes of crossing them with American strains. The foreign hens have short drumsticks, squatty chassises and white plumes.

Flood Relief

"The real work of the Red Cross in the flooded area of the middle west is just beginning. Its heaviest task is just ahead. Months from now, long after the memory of these floods slips from the minds of people in other sections, the Red Cross will still be on the job assisting victims. The money the Red Cross provides for rebuilding a house or refurnishing it, or for helping a family find the means to help itself, will be given outright, not lent." These were the words of President Truman in asking the American public to contribute at least $5,000,000 to the Red Cross to aid the disaster-stricken people of Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Illinois. Won't you help—through your local Red Cross Chapter.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 1, 1951

DRIVER-TRAINING IN SCHOOLS

Driver-training programs in the schools of the country are bringing results, the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies cheerfully reports.

In the driver-training course in Kingston High School from July 1, 1950 to June 30, 1951 a total of 224 persons received instructions. Of this number 142 were high school pupils and 82 adults. In the adult group 75 were women. In the high school group there were 80 girls and 62 boys.

This is good news for those who may have despaired of seeing any solid hope of improvement in the traffic situation. The association estimates that persons trained in driving will have a three-to-one better chance of avoiding motor accidents than those who get no formal training.

The Motor Vehicle Bureau has analyzed the driving records of 1,600 licensed motorists, half with training and half without. The survey showed that of the 800 trained drivers, only 100 had either been arrested for traffic violations or involved in an accident. Of the 800 untrained drivers, 769, or 96 per cent, had some kind of a black mark against them.

On the basis of just six-months' study, the State of Massachusetts reports that untrained drivers had nine times the reportable violations that trained motorists had.

In the current school year nearly 750,000 students were enrolled in driver-training courses in schools throughout the country. That's more than double the 330,000 who were enrolled four years ago. A total of 8,845 schools are giving courses, a marked advance from the 7,108 which offered such instruction last year. Since 1948 nearly 6,000 schools have added driver-training to their curricula.

But there are still some 11,500 schools with perhaps another 750,000 students that lack any kind of driver-training courses. So the room for expansion of these programs is ample.

DUBIOUS PROGRESS

Man has come a long way since he used quill and parchment to record his history and transact his daily written business. In those days he would have to walk to the place where he intended to work. Once there he would unroll the parchment, dip his clumsy quill into a primitive inkwell and scratch his name and what he wanted to say with considerable labor on the parchment. Writing must have been a tedious task and it must have left a scribe with stiff fingers and ink all over his hands when the day was over.

Today modern man has simplified all this. He speeds to work in his automobile or a bus. He sits at his desk and when he wants to sign his name he takes up his fountain pen, a modern device which is guaranteed to last forever and to write in the stratosphere or at the bottom of the Pacific Ocean. He gives the pen a preliminary shake and proceeds to write his name with a feather touch. The operation sometimes leaves him with ink all over his hands.

Man has come a long way since the days when he used quill and parchment as writing implements. Or has he?

FIRST TO SPEAK

A youngster's life is made up of daily clashes of will with his small friends, and every so often one of these clashes leads to blows. As soon as the heat of the incident has been dissipated the youngster usually wants to resume normal relations and go on from there. But how is the first contact to be brought about? Who is to be first to approach the other and speak?

This difficulty is one which all too often is not outgrown with the passing of childhood. On the contrary it may become a more serious obstacle to adults, after a quarrel, than it ever was in childhood. Yet everything is so simple, and works out so smoothly, if one person will only turn aside from the waiting game and make up his mind that he will make the overture, and at once.

Perhaps something of this sort is what was in John Galsworthy's mind when he wrote that "Justice is a machine that, when someone has once given it the starting push, rolls on of itself."

Life may begin at forty, but it's a good idea to get something done first.

'These Days'

Up to the present generation, Americans generally took great pride in state history and tradition, and were usually offended by federal encroachment upon states rights. In public addresses and private conversation, the reference was to "these United States" rather than to "the United States."

Like so much else that has had deep roots in American tradition, this long-held attitude has lost some of its meaning. Maybe it is due to the automobile and good roads or to the radio and television. I think rather that this tendency should be attributed to the propaganda efforts of the New Deal to make state administrative adjuncts of a national administration. This propaganda has been continuous and intense for 18 years, during which an increasingly large number of Americans have become interested in or dependent upon Federal Treasury checks.

In the so-called Tidelands cases—California, Louisiana and Texas—the Supreme Court has been laying down doctrine, which, while dealing with oil, can be widely applied to the lessening of the sovereignty of the states.

Mr. Justice Douglas in the Louisiana case stated:

"The marginal sea is a national, not a state concern. National interests, national responsibilities, national concerns are involved. The problems of commerce, national defense, relations with other powers, war and peace, focus there. National rights must therefore be paramount there."

The learned Dean Roscoe Pound, who taught law to some of our Supreme Court justices, asks:

". . . But as to such things as are specified, namely commerce with foreign states (e. g. obligations) and conduct of war, are not the rights or powers of the United States paramount also over the whole land? Such rights, incidents of external sovereignty, are not incompatible with ownership, dominium, as distinct from sovereignty. For example, the power of eminent domain of the Federal Government extends for Federal purposes over the whole land. Private land may be used for national defense throughout the whole land. It is not for that reason excluded from private ownership. Private land may be used for national defense throughout the country and is none the less private property because of this."

If Mr. Justice Douglas's theory is correct, why should there be any private ownership of property in the city of New York? The financial affairs of the nation, insurance, banking, publishing, etc., are concentrated there. A very large part of the international and domestic commerce of this country either originates in New York or is handled there. The United Nations is situated in that city.

Surely the Empire State tower would, in a war against us, be employed in the national defense. Should it not now be confiscated, according to the reasoning of Mr. Justice Douglas?

The intellectual difficulty which the followers of Oliver Wendell Holmes face is that they are forced by their theory of the law to accept it as an instrument for the exercise of power by the administration in authority without moral restraints. If that theory is applied in all directions, it must produce a state in which no individual can have any "inalienable" rights. Yet, the Declaration of Independence specifies that that was the reason for the founding of our country.

In the Tidelands cases, these decisions probably will not affect the actual production of a barrel of oil for private use or the national defense. Therefore, that is not the issue.

The issue is the right of the state—of any state—to its sovereignty and the right of the individual to his property, as the Constitution provides. It is a question as to whether we are living under the Constitution or under a rule of thumb federal jurisdiction which Mr. Justice Douglas calls paramount national rights.

As Dean Pound so aptly put it in an article in the "Baylor Law Review:"

"If sovereignty with responsibility for defense and international relations did necessarily and inseparably involve dominium, that is ownership of land, all private ownership of land would have to be given up."

If defense has to be by air, for instance, at what point up in the air do private and state rights end? Dean Pound argues this point with clear logic, ending with this conclusion:

". . . Under the conditions of warfare today the argument for national defense would make the United States owner of the whole land as well as of the shore of the sea and the sea adjacent to our territory."

Actually, these three decisions of the Supreme Court could by judicial fiat alter the structure of American life.

UNDERACTIVITY OF THYROID

One of the tragedies that occurs to some parents is finding that their child is mentally defective. It is suspected that in many cases this is due to lack of activity of the thyroid gland in the neck, and use of thyroid extract has proved helpful.

In The American Journal of Diseases of Children, Dr. A. Topper reports the following-up of 20 cretins, hypothyroids (children born with underactivity of the thyroid gland) for one to 25 years. There were six boys and 14 girls. Only one of the children had developed hypothyroidism after birth. Dried thyroid gland extract had been given them. The individual dosage varied from case to case and from time to time. Psychiatric or mental tests revealed that seven remained mentally defective despite adequate treatment. Why some cases improved and others did not, despite sufficient doses of thyroid extract, was thoroughly investigated by studying the brain waves in these seven patients and on six who had reached a normal level of intelligence. Five of the seven who had remained defective showed abnormal brain waves whereas the six who had reached a normal level of intelligence had normal brain waves.

Dr. Topper believes that when these studies are made in infancy they can be of great importance to the physician and parents, as no amount of thyroid extract can help the cases in which the brain waves are not normal, whereas if the brain wave test—electroencephalogram—shows a normally functioning brain, persistent and adequate treatment by thyroid extract can bring about normal mentality, even when the child was born with an underactive thyroid gland. Dr. Topper further concludes that poor mental results obtained in some children born with hypthyroidism are caused by such factors as: the degree of the deficiency in the thyroid gland; the actual degree of mental ability present at birth; later impairment of the brain.

When their child is backward, parents should consult their family physician first and have him investigate the matter in consulation with a psychiatrist.

Where There's a Will There's a Way

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — General Dwight D. Eisenhower has quietly passed the word to his GOP boosters that he is not interested in the Republican nomination—if isolationists control the party.

In addition, Ike let it be known that he is upset by the timid and hesitant policy of internationally-minded Republicans and the way they let bitter attacks on him go unheeded.

One close friend who returned from Paris recently put it this way:

"If the Republicans want Ike merely to bail out the party and win an election, they're badly mistaken. That would be like putting a million dollar jockey on a two dollar horse.

"The general is not the least bit interested in running for president just to accommodate a candidate for sheriff. Those who say they want Ike so badly are going to have to do a lot more than say, 'he's a fine fellow and will win the election for us.' They'll have to work and fight to make the Republican party the kind of place where the general would feel at home."

Eisenhower's close friends agree that this issue will largely decide whether he consents to run—and on which party. They claim Eisenhower is disturbed by four factors:

The prospect that as the GOP nominee he might help elect an isolationist Republican Congress which would then proceed to dump the military and economic aid program which he has been spear-heading.

The lack of a hard-hitting, effective international-minded GOP bloc in Congress, as existed when Senator Arthur Vandenberg was active. The last attempt to organize the internationalists among Senate Republicans was in January, 1949, when Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., called a meeting. This rump group met only once.

Taft Tightens Grip

The way the Taft-isolationist wing has grabbed control of the GOP party machinery. Ab Hermann, the national committee's executive director, boasted to Senate secretaries the other night: "We're building a sound organization precinct by precinct, so we won't have to ride to victory on the coattails of a strong and popular figure." The Taft crowd are in charge of the Chicago convention machinery and determined to prevent an Eisenhower gallery demonstration.

The noisy attacks on the general from both the Chicago Tribune and the Gerald L. K. Smith brand of hate mongers. The mails are being flooded with vile diatribes against the general, while his GOP friends sit on the sidelines.

Note — Meanwhile, Governor Dewey's braintrust is laying out plans to organize the east coast for Eisenhower. The trio is Paul Lockwood, now with Dewey in the Far East; his shrewd press secretary, Jim Hagerty; and President Truman's 1948 campaign speech writer, former columnist Jay Franklin.

Sam Stands Pat

House Republicans tried to make a deal recently to put their No. 1 penny-pincher, Rep. John Taber of New York, on all the appropriations subcommittees. This would enable him to keep a hawkeye on every penny appropriated by Congress.

The GOP return pay-off was an offer not to cut the Interior Departmen's appropriations. This was a shrewd move, because they knew the public power appropriations in the Interior Bill were dear indeed to Speaker Sam Rayburn's heart.

It was left to GOP Leader Joe Martin to try to make the bargain. Ambling up to Rayburn, Joe mumbled:

"I plan to object to the Interior Bill unless a deal can be worked out."

Rayburn wouldn't tumble. In fact, he wouldn't even listen.

Tax Gravy

All sorts of people are trying to get into the act when it comes to tax gravy for building war plants. Not only did the Chicago Tribune try to entice the Truman administration—which it bitterly hates—into giving the Tribune over $2,000,000 in tax amortization benefits for enlarging its printing plant and pressroom, but manufacturers of toilet paper, sausage casing, diapers, hominy grits, macaroni, and chocolate candy have applied for a ride on the tax gravy train.

Here are some of the firms which have applied to the government for five-year tax amortization on the ground that new plants they were building or enlarging were necessary to mobilization:

New York Daily News—part of the Chicago Tribune group, applied for tax benefits on $3,245,000 for a building in Brooklyn in which to store newsprint.

Chicago Tribune Syndicate—applied for tax benefits on $8,489,122 for "news services."

Chicopee Mfgr. Corp. of Milltown, N. J.—Asked for tax benefits on a $35,534 building for the manufacture of "disposable diapers."

M and M Ltd., of Newark, N. J.—Asked for tax benefits on $494,000 in connection with an expansion for making chocolate candy. It argued that it made candy for the army and would not be able to supply the demand without the new building.

Quaker Oats of Chattanooga—Asked for tax concessions on a $2,700,000 plant to make hominy grits.

All the above were denied. Other applications, also denied, follow:

Crisfield Dehydrating Co., Somerset county, Md., makers of chicken-feed, $48,000; Continental Can of Milwaukee, makers of beer cans, $197,000; Santa Anita Potteries, makers of chinaware, $71,818; Earlcliff, Inc., Cleveland, to erect an office building, $850,000; C. H. Musselman Co., Adams county, Pennsylvania, makers of sliced apples, $150,000; Transparent Package Co., of Chicago, makers of sausage casings, $219,449; and Golden Grain Macaroni, San Leandro, Calif., macaroni makers, $221,778.

These made of bamboo, nearly 60 feet high, perform the useful task of raising the river water for irrigation purposes. They revolve constantly impelled by the river's current. As they turn, they emit a series of squeaks and creeks which blend into the melody of a well-known Annamese religious hymn entitled, "A Wish for Constant Bliss." The melody is easily recognizable.

Truman Used Detroit Anniversary to Unleash Political Attack, Despite Ferguson Presence

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 1—The party in power has a tremendous advantage in the influence it wields in prejudicing public opinion, but this advantage was never better illustrated than in the circumstances under which President Truman delivered his speech last Saturday in Detroit.

Here was a supposedly non-partisan ceremony—the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of the city of Detroit. All the major radio networks and television stations turned over their facilities freely so that the President's address might be carried in full.

This privilege is given a president on the assumption that his speeches are non-political. Otherwise, he would have to pay for broadcast time, just as do spokesmen or candidates of political parties.

But what did Mr. Truman do with the facilities given him for a non-political address? Using the familiar technique of attack on unnamed groups of his opponents, he assailed those who disagree with him and reviewed the record of the Democratic party with a boastfulness about its achievements and was unmistakably partisan.

Although a Republican senator, Homer Ferguson of Michigan, was the man who invited the President to come to Detroit for the occasion, accompanied him by plane on the trip from Washington and sat on the platform during the address, here is what Mr. Truman, after discussing the unemployment situation in the auto industry, said in that speech:

"In working on this problem, the defense agencies have been getting a lot of help from some of your able union leaders, who have been making very constructive suggestions. Detroit manufacturers have also offered some first-class ideas. And I want to assure you that Charlie Wilson, and the Department of Defense, and the other defense agencies are just as concerned about this problem as you are, and are doing their best to solve it.

"One reason I am sure they are going to keep on doing their best is because of your new senator, Blair Moody. That fellow is a go-getter, and he bothers nearly everybody in Washington to death, trying to get things for Detroit."

Not a word did Mr. Truman say about the existence of the Republican senator from Michigan—Homer Ferguson—who hails from Detroit, and who is one of the most conscientious public servants in the Senate, devoted to the interests of his state.

Now if Mr. Truman wanted to pay a deserved compliment to the able Blair Moody—who comes up for election in a few months—he has ample opportunities to do that in the customary ways of politics. To interpolate a reference obviously of a political nature in a non-political speech was to violate the understanding which the broadcasting companies have that addresses by the President will be non-political. If they are political, it isn't customary for the broadcasting networks to clear all their stations of other programs for the President unless they give equal facilities to opponents.

The record of the broadcasting companies in this respect is subject to some criticism. Usually after a President's speech on politics, they select some opponent for a reply broadcast but not necessarily the most effective speakers, nor do they clear all the networks to present such a program simultaneously.

Thus, for instance, President Truman banged away at General MacArthur in his Detroit speech, although he didn't mention the general by name. A week before, on the other hand, when General MacArthur spoke before the Massachusetts Legislature, his address was not carried on many radio stations, and only one television network gave a view of the occasion and then only by film an hour after the speech was delivered. Yet it was one of the most newsworthy speeches delivered this year reflecting an opposition viewpoint.

The broadcasting companies are controlled in a sense by the party in power, because they are beholden to the Federal Communications Commission, whose members are appointed by the President. Not long ago a ruling, affecting millions of dollars of revenue, on the kind of color television to be permitted hereafter was awarded to one of the broadcasting networks over the protest of a competing company. This is an example of what's at stake in winning or losing administration favor.

It is possible, with the vast control over facilities of broadcasting and television, for the administration to disseminate political propaganda and unfair attacks, just as the President did at Detroit, without adequate facilities being given to anyone else on the other side to reach the same audience in reply. This certainly isn't fair play.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 31—When Senator Harry F. Byrd cried out against the pre-Communist Civil Rights program of the Truman carpetbaggers, he made a glancing reference to a threat which seemed important enough for stronger and longer emphasis. Discussing the report of the President's committee on Civil Rights, Senator Byrd said: "It is even recommended that the federal government shall be given the power to supervise the discussion of matters in the states relating to national political issues."

I confess that up to then I had not read this report, although I believe I had read the summaries at the time of publication. This is a problem that hampers all of us. Important developments affecting our basic liberties occur swiftly in a confusion which seems to have been carefully planned and the plots are concealed in long, dull, complicated documents which the daily papers are unable to examine and explain. This "report" was published by the government printing office in 1947 and is for sale at a dollar a copy. It is an attack on the rights of our states and of our citizens within those states and it embraces much of the Communist party program to conquer the United States. Yet it is an official document of our government, prepared by a strangely mixed group of persons selected by President Truman. It bears the endorsement of the president of the republic on which it would inflict grievous damage.

So I read this audacious tract and here is what it said on the regulation of political discussion by American citizens: "The President's committee recommends" a law which "can protect participation in discussions of matters relating to national political issues. This statute should authorize the Department of Justice to use both civil and criminal sanctions."

"Sanctions" in this sense of the word is a jargon term meaning "enforcement" or "punishment" whereas in the American language the noun "sanction" means "approval."

Senator Byrd said "supervise" and the report said "protect" but, in any case, this committee here proposed a national law, to be enforced by the Department of Justice, which certainly would give the federal government authority over political debates and arguments between individuals. This "protection" certainly would entail "supervision," because obviously the Department of Justice could not "protect participation in discussions" unless it kept itself informed of what people were saying. It would tend to make heckling a crime and inevitably would suppress political discussion. There would be a pretense, of course, that the purpose of this law was to prevent white men in the South from intimidating colored men, but the power would be there to monitor discussions of national candidates and issues, and already all over the urban, industrial north, "discussion" is policed and suppressed by physical terror and economic coercion in union meetings.

Who asked the federal government for this "protection"?

There is no more popular inspiration behind this proposal than there is for the proposed anti-poll tax law which Senator

DRIVER-TRAINING IN SCHOOLS

Driver-training programs in the schools of the country are bringing results, the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies cheerfully reports.

In the driver-training course in Kingston High School from July 1, 1950 to June 30, 1951 a total of 224 persons received instructions. Of this number 142 were high school pupils and 82 adults. In the adult group 75 were women. In the high school group there were 80 girls and 62 boys.

This is good news for those who may have despaired of seeing any solid hope of improvement in the traffic situation. The association estimates that persons trained in driving will have a three-to-one better chance of avoiding motor accidents than those who get no formal training.

The Motor Vehicle Bureau has analyzed the driving records of 1,600 licensed motorists, half with training and half without. The survey showed that of the 800 trained drivers, only 100 had either been arrested for traffic violations or involved in an accident. Of the 800 untrained drivers, 769, or 96 per cent, had some kind of a black mark against them.

On the basis of just six-months' study, the State of Massachusetts reports that untrained drivers had nine times the reportable violations that trained motorists had.

In the current school year nearly 750,000 students were enrolled in driver-training courses in schools throughout the country. That's more than double the 330,000 who were enrolled four years ago. A total of 8,845 schools are giving courses, a marked advance from the 7,108 which offered such instruction last year. Since 1948 nearly 6,000 schools have added driver-training to their curricula.

But there are still some 11,500 schools with perhaps another 750,000 students that lack any kind of driver-training courses. So the room for expansion of these programs is ample.

DUBIOUS PROGRESS

Man has come a long way since he used quill and parchment to record his history and transact his daily written business. In those days he would have to walk to the place where he intended to work. Once there he would unroll the parchment, dip his clumsy quill into a primitive inkwell and scratch his name and what he wanted to say with considerable labor on the parchment. Writing must have been a tedious task and it must have left a scribe with stiff fingers and ink all over his hands when the day was over.

Today modern man has simplified all this. He speeds to work in his automobile or a bus. He sits at his desk and when he wants to sign his name he takes up his fountain pen, a modern device which is guaranteed to last forever and to write in the stratosphere or at the bottom of the Pacific Ocean. He gives the pen a preliminary shake and proceeds to write his name with a feather touch. The operation sometimes leaves him with ink all over his hands.

Man has come a long way since the days when he used quill and parchment as writing implements. Or has he?

FIRST TO SPEAK

A youngster's life is made up of daily clashes of will with his small friends, and every so often one of these clashes leads to blows. As soon as the heat of the incident has been dissipated the youngster usually wants to resume normal relations and go on from there. But how is the first contact to be brought about? Who is to be first to approach the other and speak?

This difficulty is one which all too often is not outgrown with the passing of childhood. On the contrary it may become a more serious obstacle to adults, after a quarrel, than it ever was in childhood. Yet everything is so simple, and works out so smoothly, if one person will only turn aside from the waiting game and make up his mind that he will make the overture, and at once.

Perhaps something of this sort is what was in John Galsworthy's mind when he wrote that "Justice is a machine that, when someone has once given it the starting push, rolls on of itself."

Life may begin at forty, but it's a good idea to get something done first.

'These Days'

Up to the present generation, Americans generally took great pride in state history and tradition, and were usually offended by federal encroachment upon states rights. In public addresses and private conversation, the reference was to "these United States" rather than to "the United States."

Like so much else that has had deep roots in American tradition, this long-held attitude has lost some of its meaning. Maybe it is due to the automobile and good roads or to the radio and television. I think rather that this tendency should be attributed to the propaganda efforts of the New Deal to make state administrative adjuncts of a national administration. This propaganda has been continuous and intense for 18 years, during which an increasingly large number of Americans have become interested in or dependent upon Federal Treasury checks.

In the so-called Tidelands cases—California, Louisiana and Texas—the Supreme Court has been laying down doctrine, which, while dealing with oil, can be widely applied to the lessening of the sovereignty of the states.

Mr. Justice Douglas in the Louisiana case stated:

"The marginal sea is a national, not a state concern. National interests, national responsibilities, national concerns are involved. The problems of commerce, national defense, relations with other powers, war and peace, focus there. National rights must therefore be paramount there."

The learned Dean Roscoe Pound, who taught law to some of our Supreme Court justices, asks:

". . . But as to such things as are specified, namely commerce with foreign states (e. g. obligations) and conduct of war, are not the rights or powers of the United States paramount also over the whole land? Such rights, incidents of external sovereignty, are not incompatible with ownership, dominium, as distinct from sovereignty. For example, the power of eminent domain of the Federal Government extends for Federal purposes over the whole land. Private land may be used for national defense throughout the whole land. It is not for that reason excluded from private ownership. Private land may be used for national defense throughout the country and is none the less private property because of this."

If Mr. Justice Douglas's theory is correct, why should there be any private ownership of property in the city of New York? The financial affairs of the nation, insurance, banking, publishing, etc., are concentrated there. A very large part of the international and domestic commerce of this country either originates in New York or is handled there. The United Nations is situated in that city.

Surely the Empire State tower would, in a war against us, be employed in the national defense. Should it not now be confiscated, according to the reasoning of Mr. Justice Douglas?

The intellectual difficulty which the followers of Oliver Wendell Holmes face is that they are forced by their theory of the law to accept it as an instrument for the exercise of power by the administration in authority without moral restraints. If that theory is applied in all directions, it must produce a state in which no individual can have any "inalienable" rights. Yet, the Declaration of Independence specifies that that was the reason for the founding of our country.

In the Tidelands cases, these decisions probably will not affect the actual production of a barrel of oil for private use or the national defense. Therefore, that is not the issue.

The issue is the right of the state—of any state—to its sovereignty and the right of the individual to his property, as the Constitution provides. It is a question as to whether we are living under the Constitution or under a rule of thumb federal jurisdiction which Mr. Justice Douglas calls paramount national rights.

As Dean Pound so aptly put it in an article in the "Baylor Law Review:"

"If sovereignty with responsibility for defense and international relations did necessarily and inseparably involve dominium, that is ownership of land, all private ownership of land would have to be given up."

If defense has to be by air, for instance, at what point up in the air do private and state rights end? Dean Pound argues this point with clear logic, ending with this conclusion:

". . . Under the conditions of warfare today the argument for national defense would make the United States owner of the whole land as well as of the shore of the sea and the sea adjacent to our territory."

Actually, these three decisions of the Supreme Court could by judicial fiat alter the structure of American life.

The way the Taft-isolationist wing has grabbed control of the GOP party machinery. Ab Hermann, the national committee's executive director, boasted to Senate secretaries the other night: "We're building a sound organization precinct by precinct, so we won't have to ride to victory on the coattails of a strong and popular figure." The Taft crowd are in charge of the Chicago convention machinery and determined to prevent an Eisenhower gallery demonstration.

The noisy attacks on the general from both the Chicago Tribune and the Gerald L. K. Smith brand of hate mongers. The mails are being flooded with vile diatribes against the general, while his GOP friends sit on the sidelines.

Note — Meanwhile, Governor Dewey's braintrust is laying out plans to organize the east coast for Eisenhower. The trio is Paul Lockwood, now with Dewey in the Far East; his shrewd press secretary, Jim Hagerty; and President Truman's 1948 campaign speech writer, former columnist Jay Franklin.

Sam Stands Pat

House Republicans tried to make a deal recently to put their No. 1 penny-pincher, Rep. John Taber of New York, on all the appropriations subcommittees. This would enable him to keep a hawkeye on every penny appropriated by Congress.

The GOP return pay-off was an offer not to cut the Interior Department's appropriations. This was a shrewd move, because they knew the public power appropriations in the Interior Bill were dear indeed to Speaker Sam Rayburn's heart.

It was left to GOP Leader Joe Martin to try to make the bargain. Ambling up to Rayburn, Joe mumbled:

"I plan to object to the Interior Bill unless a deal can be worked out."

Rayburn wouldn't tumble. In fact, he wouldn't even listen.

Tax Gravy

All sorts of people are trying to get into the act when it comes to tax gravy for building war plants. Not only did the Chicago Tribune try to entice the Truman administration—which it bitterly hates—into giving the Tribune over $2,000,000 in tax amortization benefits for enlarging its printing plant and pressroom, but manufacturers of toilet paper, sausage casing, diapers, hominy grits, macaroni, and chocolate candy have applied for a ride on the tax gravy train.

Here are some of the firms which have applied to the government for five-year tax amortization on the ground that new plants they were building or enlarging were necessary to mobilization:

New York Daily News—part of the Chicago Tribune group, applied for tax benefits on $3,245,000 for a building in Brooklyn in which to store newsprint.

Chicago Tribune Syndicate—applied for tax benefits on $8,489,122 for "news services."

Chicopee Mfgr. Corp. of Milltown, N. J.—Asked for tax benefits on a $35,534 building for the manufacture of "disposable diapers."

M and M Ltd., of Newark, N. J.—Asked for tax benefits on $494,000 in connection with an expansion for making chocolate candy. It argued that it made candy for the army and would not be able to supply the demand without the new building.

Quaker Oats of Chattanooga—Asked for tax concessions on a $2,700,000 plant to make hominy grits.

All the above were denied. Other applications, also denied, follow:

Crisfield Dehydrating Co., Somerset county, Md., makers of chicken-feed, $48,000; Continental Can of Milwaukee, makers of beer cans, $197,000; Santa Anita Potteries, makers of chinaware, $71,818; Earlcliff, Inc., Cleveland, to erect an office building, $850,000; C. H. Musselman Co., Adams county, Pennsylvania, makers of sliced apples, $150,000; Transparent Package Co., of Chicago, makers of sausage casings, $219,449; and Golden Grain Macaroni, San Leandro, Calif., macaroni makers, $221,778.

The Strangest Musical Instrument in the World

On the banks of the river Song Cain in Annam, Indochina, rises a group of gigantic waterwheels called Noriahs. These made of bamboo, nearly 60 feet high, perform the useful task of raising the river water for irrigation purposes. They revolve constantly impelled by the river's current. As they turn, they emit a series of squeaks and creeks which blend into the melody of a well-known Annamese religious hymn entitled, "A Wish for Constant Bliss." The melody is easily recognizable.

Truman Used Detroit Anniversary to Unleash Political Attack, Despite Ferguson Presence

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 1—The party in power has a tremendous advantage in the influence it wields in prejudicing public opinion, but this advantage was never better illustrated than in the circumstances under which President Truman delivered his speech last Saturday in Detroit.

Here was a supposedly non-partisan ceremony—the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of the city of Detroit. All the major radio networks and television stations turned over their facilities freely so that the President's address might be carried in full.

This privilege is given a president on the assumption that his speeches are non-political. Otherwise, he would have to pay for broadcast time, just as do spokesmen or candidates of political parties.

But what did Mr. Truman do with the facilities given him for a non-political address? Using the familiar technique of attack on unnamed groups of his opponents, he assailed those who disagree with him and reviewed the record of the Democratic party with a boastfulness about its achievements and was unmistakably partisan.

Although a Republican senator, Homer Ferguson of Michigan, was the man who invited the President to come to Detroit for the occasion, accompanied him by plane on the trip from Washington and sat on the platform during the address, here is what Mr. Truman, after discussing the unemployment situation in the auto industry, said in that speech:

"In working on this problem, the defense agencies have been getting a lot of help from some of your able union leaders, who have been making very constructive suggestions. Detroit manufacturers have also offered some first-class ideas. And I want to assure you that Charlie Wilson, and the Department of Defense, and the other defense agencies are just as concerned about this problem as you are, and are doing their best to solve it.

"One reason I am sure they are going to keep on doing their best is because of your new senator, Blair Moody. That fellow is a go-getter, and he bothers nearly everybody in Washington to death, trying to get things for Detroit."

Not a word did Mr. Truman say about the existence of the Republican senator from Michigan—Homer Ferguson—who hails from Detroit, and who is one of the most conscientious public servants in the Senate, devoted to the interests of his state.

Now if Mr. Truman wanted to pay a deserved compliment to the able Blair Moody—who comes up for election in a few months—he has ample opportunities to do that in the customary ways of politics. To interpolate a reference obviously of a political nature in a non-political speech was to violate the understanding which the broadcasting companies have that addresses by the President will be non-political. If they are political, it isn't customary for the broadcasting networks to clear all their stations of other programs for the President unless they give equal facilities to opponents.

The record of the broadcasting companies in this respect is subject to some criticism. Usually after a President's speech on politics, they select some opponent for a reply broadcast but not necessarily the most effective speakers, nor do they clear all the networks to present such a program simultaneously.

Thus, for instance, President Truman banged away at General MacArthur in his Detroit speech, although he didn't mention the general by name. A week before, on the other hand, when General MacArthur spoke before the Massachusetts Legislature, his address was not carried on many radio stations, and only one television network gave a view of the occasion and then only by film an hour after the speech was delivered. Yet it was one of the most newsworthy speeches delivered this year reflecting an opposition viewpoint.

The broadcasting companies are controlled in a sense by the party in power, because they are beholden to the Federal Communications Commission, whose members are appointed by the President. Not long ago a ruling, affecting millions of dollars of revenue, on the kind of color television to be permitted hereafter was awarded to one of the broadcasting networks over the protest of a competing company. This is an example of what's at stake in winning or losing administration favor.

It is possible, with the vast control over facilities of broadcasting and television, for the administration to disseminate political propaganda and unfair attacks, just as the President did at Detroit, without adequate facilities being given to anyone else on the other side to reach the same audience in reply. This certainly isn't fair play.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 31—When Senator Harry F. Byrd cried out against the pre-Communist Civil Rights program of the Truman carpetbaggers, he made a glancing reference to a threat which seemed important enough for stronger and longer emphasis. Discussing the report of the President's committee on Civil Rights, Senator Byrd said: "It is even recommended that the federal government shall be given the power to supervise the discussion of matters in the states relating to national political issues."

I confess that up to then I had not read this report, although I believe I had read the summaries at the time of publication. This is a problem that hampers all of us. Important developments affecting our basic liberties occur swiftly in a confusion which seems to have been carefully planned and the plots are concealed in long, dull, complicated documents which the daily papers are unable to examine and explain. This "report" was published by the government printing office in 1947 and is for sale at a dollar a copy. It is an attack on the rights of our states and of our citizens within those states and it embraces much of the Communist party program to conquer the United States. Yet it is an official document of our government, prepared by a strangely mixed group of persons selected by President Truman. It bears the endorsement of the president of the republic on which it would inflict grievous damage.

So I read this audacious tract and here is what it said on the regulation of political discussion by American citizens: "The President's committee recommends" a law which "can protect participation in discussions of matters relating to national political issues. This statute should authorize the Department of Justice to use both civil and criminal sanctions."

"Sanctions" in this sense of the word is a jargon term meaning "enforcement" or "punishment" whereas in the American language the noun "sanction" means "approval."

Senator Byrd said "supervise" and the report said "protect" but, in any case, this committee here proposed a national law, to be enforced by the Department of Justice, which certainly would give the federal government authority over political debates and arguments between individuals. This "protection" certainly would entail "supervision," because obviously the Department of Justice could not "protect participation in discussions" unless it kept itself informed of what people were saying. It would tend to make heckling a crime and inevitably would suppress political discussion. There would be a pretense, of course, that the purpose of this law was to prevent white men in the South from intimidating colored men, but the power would be there to monitor discussions of national candidates and issues, and already all over the urban, industrial north, "discussion" is policed and suppressed by physical terror and economic coercion in union meetings.

Who asked the federal government for this "protection"?

There is no more popular inspiration behind this proposal than there is for the proposed anti-poll tax law which Senator

Battle Zone Personnel To Get Body Armor

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—Military personnel in battle zones soon may be wearing body armor that will deflect a 45 caliber bullet fired at point-blank range.

Progress in developing the armor was outlined by navy spokesmen to the House Appropriations Committee during hearings on the 1952 military budget. The testimony was made public today.

Two types of armor are being developed. One consists of laminated plastic—known as doron—panels fitted into pockets made in the lining of regular military uniforms.

The other type consists of thick nylon cloth jackets. Experiments have disclosed that 28 thicknesses of the cloth will stop a 45 caliber bullet at muzzle velocity.

Wedemeyer Protests Drawing Of Forces by United Nations

Oklahoma City, Aug. 1 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer declared here last night that the United States had been "naively" drawn into Korea and protested letting the United Nations "dissipate our manpower all over the world."

Discarding a prepared text, the former commander of the China theater predicted in a dinner speech "future powder kegs" between the United States and Communists.

"If that war (Korea) must go on, I say let the Asiatics who want freedom fight," he said.

"We can arm them. If it is the decision for us to stay out there and do the job, I say remove the restrictions and give our boys every weapon in the democracy's arsenal." Presumably, that would include the atom bomb.

He also said it would be "unfortunate" if the United States sent large numbers of men to Europe instead of arming European nations to fight.

Wedemeyer, who retired from the army Monday after 34 years, urged the arming of nations everywhere to help stop communism. In particular, he praised the planned help for Franco Spain.

Italian Police Would Agree With Luciano's Removal

Rome, Aug. 1 (AP)—A suggestion that Charles (Lucky) Luciano, former New York vice lord, be returned to the United States to finish his jail sentence brought nods of approval today from fed-up Italian police.

One top police source said "the American government sent him to us. We didn't want him. They had him in Sing Sing once and he was supposed to remain there for many years. Why did they let him out?"

The suggestion that Luciano be returned to jail was made to a U. S. Senate Crime Investigation Committee this week by former Congressman W. Kingsland Macy (R.-N.Y.).

The former New York vice lord, who recently was said to be the mastermind of an international narcotics ring, was paroled and deported to Italy in 1946 after serving nine and a half years of a 50-year sentence for pandering.

A reliable source here said some 50 men deported from the United States to Italy on narcotics charges form the core of a far-flung narcotics smuggling network.

Luciano who lives in a second rate Naples hotel when he is not sunning himself at Capri, has labelled the dope accusations "a lot of baloney."

Young Man—Is this where you pay out eternity benefit?

Clerk—My good fellow, I presume you mean maternity benefit, do you not?

Young Man — No. I mean eternity benefit.

Clerk—Do you know that eternity means the hereafter?

Boxer — Well, what's the good news?

Jacoby on Canasta

Simple Logic Worked Here

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

The fatal moment had come. The discard pile was frozen and contained nearly 50 cards, including about 10 wild cards. The opponents needed only 50 points, so there was every reason to believe that the wrong discard would lose the pile. And now the poor suffering Canasta player had to make a discard from a hand that was full of dynamite.

This player had four kings, four queens, two tens, and two sevens. Nobody had thrown a king or a queen. One ten had been discarded, very early in the hand, by the left-hand opponent, but nobody had ever thrown another ten. Only two sevens had been discarded, both by the player at the left—at his two previous turns.

What would you do in a spot like that?

The kings and the queens were unsafe, all right. The next player had a pair of each. All right, maybe you never thought for a moment of throwing a picture card. What's your choice as between a ten and a seven?

When I watched this hand, the player reasoned as follows: "That early discard of a ten was probable just bait, thrown in the hope that I would soon discard a ten. It's a cinch that the opponent still has a pair of tens. However, maybe he had only three sevens.

"He has already discarded two of them and now doesn't have a pair. After all, that still accounts for five of the eight sevens in the deck. Why should my opponent and I have six sevens between us?"

So the seven was discarded—and, as I announced to begin with, the fatal moment had come. The opponent swooped down on the pile, and there was a certain amount of quiet satisfaction on one side and not so quiet misery on the other side.

It wasn't an easy decision to make, but I think the discard was against the evidence. If the seven was safe and the ten was unsafe, the opponent had discovered early in the hand that it was safe to discard a ten but had never tried it again.

He had thrown wild cards, and he had undoubtedly taken his share of risks in making other discards—after all, you don't go practically through the deck without having to take at least a few risks. Still he never threw a ten. Instead, he eventually discarded one of the only three sevens.

This could all be true, but the odds are certainly against it. It's much more logical to believe that the opponent finally broke from four sevens — his safest holding for a discard. He never discarded a second ten simply because he never got another.

Muench Is Appointed

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Frank J. Muench has been appointed regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor's wage and hour and public contact divisions for the New York-New Jersey region. Muench, of New York, was named to his post yesterday by Secretary of Labor Maurice Tobin. He succeeds Arthur J. White, who has been appointed regional director of the Wage Stabilization Board here. Muench had been assistant regional director in the Labor Department office.

As Pegler Sees It

Byrd quickly recognized as attacks on the character and the liberties of the white people of the south. These things were hatched by a few northern carpetbaggers, most of them local to New York, who hate the southern people for their integrity, their accent and their personal exclusiveness. The Communists have been waging propaganda along this line for years and Eleanor Roosevelt has been so aggressive that she at last provoked a fierce reply by W. E. Debnam, a southern newspaper writer and broadcaster, entitled, "Weep No More, My Lady." The immediate provocation was a "column" in which the old woman discussed a visit to the University of North Carolina.

"Her report was written in the vein of a traveler returning from a foreign country," Debnam wrote, "Of course there are signs of poverty and unhappiness in the south! Mrs. Roosevelt doesn't have to come south to find such things. Almost from the window of her hotel in New York she can look out and see what is possibly the greatest cesspool of heaped-up-and-pressed-down-and-running-over poverty and crime and spiritual and moral and economic unhappiness on the face of the earth. We are speaking of that great Negro ghetto in the heart of New York that is Harlem."

Mr. Debnam was an amateur at book distribution, but his booklet has now gone into its tenth edition and the latest issues bear on the cover a caricature of La Boca Grande bawling into a handkerchief. This design is enclosed in a subtle combination of stars and bars which artfully suggests the flag of the grand rebellion against northern mischief which ended with the south writhing under the heel of a despotic force. That same force is now rising again in Washington and New York to put the southern people in their place.

Arabs' Man of War Reappears

THE MYSTERIOUS MUFTI

Haj Amin el Husseini, born in 1893, has been a fierce Arab nationalist since he was 16. In World War I he was a young artillery officer in the army of Turkey, which then owned Palestine. But even then he plotted revolt—"Palestine for the Arabs." He deserted, rallied several thousand Palestinian Arabs to the Allied campaign which wrested the Holy Land from the Turks.

After the war, during which Britain had promised the Jews a homeland in Palestine, he was in the forefront of the fight against Zionism. He masterminded the anti-Jewish terrorist riots of 1920. Sentenced to 10 years in prison by the British, he fled to Jordan, found refuge with Abdullah, with whose assassination three decades later he was linked.

A fugitive, he nevertheless continued to exercise great power in the Moslem world because, as Grand Mufti (ironically, appointed to the post by Britain) he was a spiritual and political leader. Although exiled, in 1937 he fomented a murderous anti-British outbreak by Arab terrorists in Palestine and in 1938 organized a revolt in Iraq, then under French mandate.

The Iraq revolt was financed by Nazi agents. When it failed, he fled to Italy, where he was welcomed by Mussolini and proceeded to Germany, where he worked manfully for Hitler, attempting to arouse Moslem tribesmen against the Allies.

Haj Amin el Husseini

Captured by the French fleeing from beaten Germany in 1945, he escaped the next year and fled to Egypt. Egypt refused to give him up. He is considered to have played a major role in directing Arab forces against the Israelis in the war of 1948-49. Now, as tension mounts in the Near East, the Mufti's hand is again seen, stirring up trouble. Top man in the extremist Palestinian group, he has accused Trans-Jordan of terrorizing Palestinian Arabs. His fanatics still live for the day when they may drive the Israelis into the sea.

A pistol barks from behind the shadowed columns of the Mosque of Omar in Jerusalem and a stout, round-faced, bearded little man dies on the tiled floor. War looms over Israel. The reason: the murdered man was King Abdullah Ibn el Hussein of Jordan. His death heated up an explosive situation in the Near East, because out of obscurity emerges the man who may trigger the explosion. He is sweet-faced, crafty, ruthless, anti-British, Jew-hating Haj Amin el Husseini, former Grand Mufti of Jerusalem. Although the late King Abdullah led the Arab armies in the 1948 invasion of Israel, after the truce he was the most conciliatory of Arab leaders, working for a permanent peace in the Holy Land. In contrast, the Grand Mufti fanatically hates the idea of a Jewish nation in Palestine. He has many equally fanatic followers there. If the Mufti's stooges can seize control of Jordan's government, the uneasy Arab-Israeli truce may be melted in the flames of renewed war.

Committee Gives No Consideration To Macy Request

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The chairman of the Senate Crime Committee says his committee has not considered a request that it question Governor Dewey about the release of Charles (Lucky) Luciano from prison.

The New York governor commuted Luciano's sentence in 1946, after the vice overlord had served 9½ years in Sing Sing on a compulsory prostitution conviction. Luciano then was deported to Italy.

It was Dewey who, as special prosecutor in Manhattan, had obtained the conviction against Luciano.

Former Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, a Republican but a political foe of Dewey, announced Sunday that he had requested the Senate committee chairman, Senator O'Conor (D.-Md.), to summon Dewey for questioning about the release.

O'Conor told a reporter yesterday that he had not seen the Macy letter and that the request was not now on the committee's program. O'Conor said it would be up to the committee members to decide whether Dewey would be called.

Eight of the 10 Southern freight trains passing Centralia have been equipped with new horns especially toned like those lonesome sounding whistles of steam trains.

Singapore Editors Skip Dewey Talk

Singapore, Aug. 1 (AP)—Singapore editors, miffed because they weren't invited to a luncheon honoring Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, refused today to publish his speech in which he appealed for better understanding of America.

Dewey's speech criticized the Singapore press for overemphasizing stories of racial troubles in the United States, but editors said that wasn't why they would not publish it.

They said the reason was because they had not been invited to the luncheon and that their reporters and photographers covering the event were rudely treated.

Dewey made the speech before the commonwealth parliamentary Association. Top Malaya and Singapore leaders, including Gov. Sir Franklin Gimson and Commissioner General McLaolm MacDonald, attended.

Before taking off for Jakarta, Indonesia this morning, Dewey said he was sorry to be mixed up in a press dispute with which he had no direct connection.

New York Reports Half as Many Polio Cases as Last Year

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Upstate New York reported about half as many new polio cases last week as in the corresponding week of 1950.

The State Health Department announced today that 34 cases were reported last week, compared with 61 in the same week of 1950. The total since Jan. 1 rose to 157. A year ago it was 196.

In the week ended July 21, the counties outside of New York city reported 35 cases, compared with 37 for the corresponding week of 1950.

The health department was "favorably impressed" with the decline from last year's epidemic rate, but said it was too early to make any prediction for the year.

Nassau county reported six of last week's new cases. Suffolk and Warren counties each reported four.

New Yorker Fined $35 in City Court

Wilfred John Conroy, 49, of 25 South Water street, New York, who was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and public intoxication yesterday, was sentenced to pay $35 in fines or spend 30 days in jail when he appeared before Special City Judge Harry Gold today. The fines were not paid.

Lt. James P. Martin, who arrested Conroy, said the latter became belligerent and struck him in the face before he was subdued. Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Francis Fagan were also given trouble when they were summoned to bring Conroy to police headquarters, the lieutenant said.

Martin said he was on his way home from headquarters when Conroy became troublesome at a lunch room on central Broadway, shortly after 4 p. m.

Special Judge Gold sentenced Conroy to pay a fine of $10 or spend 10 days in jail on the public intoxication charge and imposed a fine of $25 or 20 days in jail on the disorderly conduct charge.

Clayton Is Fined

Elmer J. Clayton, 57, of 119 Cedar street, who was arrested on a charge of third degree assault by his daughter, Mrs. Elaine Alte, of 324 Wall street, was sentenced to pay a fine of $25, and was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. The fine was paid. The information said the defendant's daughter had intervened in a dispute between him and Mrs. Clayton. The defendant told the judge he did not strike his daughter, but had pushed her.

A charge of reckless driving against Gordon George Keeler, 25, of 29 South Water street, Poughkeepsie, was withdrawn. He was arrested last June 2 following a collision at Main and Wall streets. The other car involved was owned by Clement T. Smith, of West Hurley.

Cuts Teeth Early

Carlsbad, N. M. (AP)—There's a suspicion that Robert Verne Tucker must be planning to put the bite on somebody very early in life. Young Bobby, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Tucker of Carlsbad, boasted four teeth at the age of four months. Now at six months, he has eight teeth whereas infants twice his age often are just cutting their first tooth.

Human 'Sacrifice'

Waterloo, Ill. (AP)—A group of persons, fined for fishing without a license, were shy the $10 fine and costs. So they left one of the girls in the group with Magistrate Arthur Koch as bail. Mrs. Koch, unaware of the deal, was surprised when she came home that evening and found the girl in her kitchen, still awaiting her friends' return.

Attempted Theft

Local police were notified yesterday afternoon of an apparent attempt by three young men to take steel plates from under rails of the track at the Hutton brickyard. The report at 3:40 p. m., following an investigation by Officers Francis Fagan and Louis Sapp, Jr., said a workman came upon the trio, who were riding in an old car, as they were apparently attempting to remove the plates.

DRINK IN THE DRINK—This billboard near Kansas City, Kan., lent an ironic touch to the tragic flood situation as rising waters crept up over the soft drink advertised.

Carleson, Reily, 41

his investigation had disclosed that Mrs. Taylor and Reily had resided at the Minturn street home of Mrs. Taylor for some time. A few days ago Reily's father, Custer Reily, came to the Taylor home to stay.

Sunday the trio left the premises and apparently made a tour of several taverns. Later that day there was an argument and the trio split up, Reily and his father returning home first and Mrs. Taylor later followed.

Investigating officers report that there apparently was an argument at the Taylor home after her arrival. Neighbors report that shortly after midnight they heard Mrs. Taylor scream for help. Neighbors did not intervene, District Attorney Bruhn said, because on prior occasions family arguments had resulted in difficulty for them when they attempted to render assistance.

From the autopsy it is believed Mrs. Taylor died approximately 10 a. m. Monday morning.

Giving Ice Packs

Custer Reily told officials that he had left the home after the argument. At that time, he allegedly said, Mrs. Taylor was bleeding from the nose and his son was endeavoring to give her ice packs.

Both Reily and Mrs. Taylor are married, Mrs. Taylor's husband James J., operates a grill and bar on lower Broadway, Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh stated. Mrs. Taylor was born in Brooklyn and resided there for some years before coming to Port Ewen. Reily was born in the town of Rochester.

District Attorney Bruhn stated that the manslaughter charge against Reily was based upon the result of the investigation thus far, which indicated the injuries which Mrs. Taylor suffered and which resulted in her death, had been inflicted by Reily during an argument early Monday morning.

Coroner Galietta withheld his verdict pending further investigation of the case.

Humidity Makes Kingston Swelter

Yesterday's high temperature of 96 was not the hottest to date this summer, but the humidity had the city sweltering as much as on any day when the mercury hit the 90's.

The high yesterday afternoon equalled that of July 26. The record for the summer was 98 on July 16. Overnight rains added to the humidity in the area, but the temperature at noon today was only 86 degrees on the thermometer in the city engineer's office.

Takes Annual Check-up

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, majority leader of the State Senate and Ulster County Republican chairman, was admitted to Albany Hospital today for an annual physical check-up. The hospital said the condition of Senator Wicks was good, and that he would be there several days for a complete examination.

Johnson Assails Newsprint Boost As Law Violation

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.) said today that United States newsprint producers have boosted prices $10 a ton "in defiance of law."

Johnson, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, made public a letter to Michael V. DiSalle, director of price stabilization, saying the newsprint producers "are putting on the squeeze play" and asking:

"Are you going to let them get away with this open violation of the law?"

The senator called attention to a $10 a ton price increase announcement to newsprint customers of Crown Zellerbach Corp., sent from San Francisco, Calif., July 20.

Appeals to DiSalle

Johnson appealed to DiSalle several weeks ago to see what could be done about blocking a newsprint increase by Canadian producers.

Because of those increases, Johnson said, "several important newspapers quit and many others have had to curtail their services."

He told DiSalle that the price official's "authority with respect to Canadian producers was limited, and that if Canadian governmental authorities would not cooperate with our price control officials there was little you could do about it."

Johnson said that the U. S. newsprint producers "are contemptuous about" the increase and were quoted as saying:

"We will not take the matter up with the Office of Price Administration."

Johnson said he and Senator O'Mahoney (D.-Wyo.), chairman of the Joint Committee on Economic Reports, "have been gathering basic facts with respect to the production and marketing of newsprint, and we expect to take some action very soon."

This record was supervised by Cornell University and was reported to The American Guernsey Cattle Club for approval and publication.

THE MYSTERIOUS MUFTI

Haj Amin el Husseini, born in 1893, has been a fierce Arab nationalist since he was 16. In World War I he was a young artillery officer in the army of Turkey, which then owned Palestine. But even then he plotted revolt—"Palestine for the Arabs." He deserted, rallied several thousand Palestinian Arabs to the Allied campaign which wrested the Holy Land from the Turks.

After the war, during which Britain had promised the Jews a homeland in Palestine, he was in the forefront of the fight against Zionism. He masterminded the anti-Jewish terrorist riots of 1920. Sentenced to 10 years in prison by the British, he fled to Jordan, found refuge with Abdullah, with whose assassination three decades later he was linked.

A fugitive, he nevertheless continued to exercise great power in the Moslem world because, as Grand Mufti (ironically, appointed to the post by Britain) he was a spiritual and political leader. Although exiled, in 1937 he fomented a murderous anti-British outbreak by Arab terrorists in Palestine and in 1938 organized a revolt in Iraq, then under French mandate.

The Iraq revolt was financed by Nazi agents. When it failed, he fled to Italy, where he was welcomed by Mussolini and proceeded to Germany, where he worked manfully for Hitler, attempting to arouse Moslem tribesmen against the Allies.

Haj Amin el Husseini

Captured by the French fleeing from beaten Germany in 1945, he escaped the next year and fled to Egypt. Egypt refused to give him up. He is considered to have played a major role in directing Arab forces against the Israelis in the war of 1948-49. Now, as tension mounts in the Near East, the Mufti's hand is again seen, stirring up trouble. Top man in the extremist Palestinian group, he has accused Trans-Jordan of terrorizing Palestinian Arabs. His fanatics still live for the day when they may drive the Israelis into the sea.

A pistol barks from behind the shadowed columns of the Mosque of Omar in Jerusalem and a stout, round-faced, bearded little man dies on the tiled floor. War looms over Israel. The reason: the murdered man was King Abdullah Ibn el Hussein of Jordan. His death heated up an explosive situation in the Near East, because out of obscurity emerges the man who may trigger the explosion. He is sweet-faced, crafty, ruthless, anti-British, Jew-hating Haj Amin el Husseini, former Grand Mufti of Jerusalem. Although the late King Abdullah led the Arab armies in the 1948 invasion of Israel, after the truce he was the most conciliatory of Arab leaders, working for a permanent peace in the Holy Land. In contrast, the Grand Mufti fanatically hates the idea of a Jewish nation in Palestine. He has many equally fanatic followers there. If the Mufti's stooges can seize control of Jordan's government, the uneasy Arab-Israeli truce may be melted in the flames of renewed war.

Carleson, Reily, 41

his investigation had disclosed that Mrs. Taylor and Reily had resided at the Minturn street home of Mrs. Taylor for some time. A few days ago Reily's father, Custer Reily, came to the Taylor home to stay.

Sunday the trio left the premises and apparently made a tour of several taverns. Later that day there was an argument and the trio split up, Reily and his father returning home first and Mrs. Taylor later followed.

Investigating officers report that there apparently was an argument at the Taylor home after her arrival. Neighbors report that shortly after midnight they heard Mrs. Taylor scream for help. Neighbors did not intervene, District Attorney Bruhn said, because on prior occasions family arguments had resulted in difficulty for them when they attempted to render assistance.

From the autopsy it is believed Mrs. Taylor died approximately 10 a. m. Monday morning.

Giving Ice Packs

Custer Reily told officials that he had left the home after the argument. At that time, he allegedly said, Mrs. Taylor was bleeding from the nose and his son was endeavoring to give her ice packs.

Both Reily and Mrs. Taylor are married, Mrs. Taylor's husband James J., operates a grill and bar on lower Broadway, Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh stated. Mrs. Taylor was born in Brooklyn and resided there for some years before coming to Port Ewen. Reily was born in the town of Rochester.

District Attorney Bruhn stated that the manslaughter charge against Reily was based upon the result of the investigation thus far, which indicated the injuries which Mrs. Taylor suffered and which resulted in her death, had been inflicted by Reily during an argument early Monday morning.

Coroner Galietta withheld his verdict pending further investigation of the case.

Humidity Makes Kingston Swelter

Yesterday's high temperature of 96 was not the hottest to date this summer, but the humidity had the city sweltering as much as on any day when the mercury hit the 90's.

The high yesterday afternoon equalled that of July 26. The record for the summer was 98 on July 16. Overnight rains added to the humidity in the area, but the temperature at noon today was only 86 degrees on the thermometer in the city engineer's office.

Takes Annual Check-up

Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, majority leader of the State Senate and Ulster County Republican chairman, was admitted to Albany Hospital today for an annual physical check-up. The hospital said the condition of Senator Wicks was good, and that he would be there several days for a complete examination.

Johnson Assails Newsprint Boost As Law Violation

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D.-Colo.) said today that United States newsprint producers have boosted prices $10 a ton "in defiance of law."

Johnson, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, made public a letter to Michael V. DiSalle, director of price stabilization, saying the newsprint producers "are putting on the squeeze play" and asking:

"Are you going to let them get away with this open violation of the law?"

The senator called attention to a $10 a ton price increase announcement to newsprint customers of Crown Zellerbach Corp., sent from San Francisco, Calif., July 20.

Appeals to DiSalle

Johnson appealed to DiSalle several weeks ago to see what could be done about blocking a newsprint increase by Canadian producers.

Because of those increases, Johnson said, "several important newspapers quit and many others have had to curtail their services."

He told DiSalle that the price official's "authority with respect to Canadian producers was limited, and that if Canadian governmental authorities would not cooperate with our price control officials there was little you could do about it."

Johnson said that the U. S. newsprint producers "are contemptuous about" the increase and were quoted as saying:

"We will not take the matter up with the Office of Price Administration."

Johnson said he and Senator O'Mahoney (D.-Wyo.), chairman of the Joint Committee on Economic Reports, "have been gathering basic facts with respect to the production and marketing of newsprint, and we expect to take some action very soon."

Cow Makes Record

Peterborough, N. H.—A registered Guernsey cow, Maple Lane Princess Faith, owned by A. H. Chambers, Kingston, has completed an official advanced registry record of 11,168 pounds of milk and 566 pounds of butterfat on three times daily milking for a 10-month period, starting her record as a junior four-year-old. "Faith" is the daughter of the registered Guernsey sire, Madrey Farm Victory's Prince, that has six daughters in the Performance Register of The American Guernsey Cattle Club. This record was supervised by Cornell University and was reported to The American Guernsey Cattle Club for approval and publication.

Reindeer were originally imported to Alaska from Siberia, to provide its people with meat and hides.

Committee Gives No Consideration To Macy Request

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The chairman of the Senate Crime Committee says his committee has not considered a request that it question Governor Dewey about the release of Charles (Lucky) Luciano from prison.

The New York governor commuted Luciano's sentence in 1946, after the vice overlord had served 9½ years in Sing Sing on a compulsory prostitution conviction. Luciano then was deported to Italy.

It was Dewey who, as special prosecutor in Manhattan, had obtained the conviction against Luciano.

Former Rep. W. Kingsland Macy, a Republican but a political foe of Dewey, announced Sunday that he had requested the Senate committee chairman, Senator O'Conor (D.-Md.), to summon Dewey for questioning about the release.

O'Conor told a reporter yesterday that he had not seen the Macy letter and that the request was not now on the committee's program. O'Conor said it would be up to the committee members to decide whether Dewey would be called.

For Old Times' Sake

Centralia, Ill (AP)—The Southern Railway has bowed to those whose ears are offended by diesel train hours and who yearn for those old steam whistles. Eight of the 10 Southern freight trains passing Centralia have been equipped with new horns especially toned like those lonesome sounding whistles of steam trains.

Singapore Editors Skip Dewey Talk

Singapore, Aug. 1 (AP)—Singapore editors, miffed because they weren't invited to a luncheon honoring Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, refused today to publish his speech in which he appealed for better understanding of America.

Dewey's speech criticized the Singapore press for overemphasizing stories of racial troubles in the United States, but editors said that wasn't why they would not publish it.

They said the reason was because they had not been invited to the luncheon and that their reporters and photographers covering the event were rudely treated.

Dewey made the speech before the commonwealth parliamentary Association. Top Malaya and Singapore leaders, including Gov. Sir Franklin Gimson and Commissioner General McLaolm MacDonald, attended.

Before taking off for Jakarta, Indonesia this morning, Dewey said he was sorry to be mixed up in a press dispute with which he had no direct connection.

New York Reports Half as Many Polio Cases as Last Year

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Upstate New York reported about half as many new polio cases last week as in the corresponding week of 1950.

The State Health Department announced today that 34 cases were reported last week, compared with 61 in the same week of 1950. The total since Jan. 1 rose to 157. A year ago it was 196.

In the week ended July 21, the counties outside of New York city reported 35 cases, compared with 37 for the corresponding week of 1950.

The health department was "favorably impressed" with the decline from last year's epidemic rate, but said it was too early to make any prediction for the year.

Nassau county reported six of last week's new cases. Suffolk and Warren counties each reported four.

New Yorker Fined $35 in City Court

Wilfred John Conroy, 49, of 25 South Water street, New York, who was arrested on charges of disorderly conduct and public intoxication yesterday, was sentenced to pay $35 in fines or spend 30 days in jail when he appeared before Special City Judge Harry Gold today. The fines were not paid.

Lt. James P. Martin, who arrested Conroy, said the latter became belligerent and struck him in the face before he was subdued. Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Francis Fagan were also given trouble when they were summoned to bring Conroy to police headquarters, the lieutenant said.

Martin said he was on his way home from headquarters when Conroy became troublesome at a lunch room on central Broadway, shortly after 4 p. m.

Special Judge Gold sentenced Conroy to pay a fine of $10 or spend 10 days in jail on the public intoxication charge and imposed a fine of $25 or 20 days in jail on the disorderly conduct charge.

Clayton Is Fined

Elmer J. Clayton, 57, of 119 Cedar street, who was arrested on a charge of third degree assault by his daughter, Mrs. Elaine Alte, of 324 Wall street, was sentenced to pay a fine of $25, and was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail. The fine was paid. The information said the defendant's daughter had intervened in a dispute between him and Mrs. Clayton. The defendant told the judge he did not strike his daughter, but had pushed her.

A charge of reckless driving against Gordon George Keeler, 25, of 29 South Water street, Poughkeepsie, was withdrawn. He was arrested last June 2 following a collision at Main and Wall streets. The other car involved was owned by Clement T. Smith, of West Hurley.

Cuts Teeth Early

Carlsbad, N. M. (AP)—There's a suspicion that Robert Verne Tucker must be planning to put the bite on somebody very early in life. Young Bobby, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Tucker of Carlsbad, boasted four teeth at the age of four months. Now at six months, he has eight teeth whereas infants twice his age often are just cutting their first tooth.

Human 'Sacrifice'

Waterloo, Ill. (AP)—A group of persons, fined for fishing without a license, were shy the $10 fine and costs. So they left one of the girls in the group with Magistrate Arthur Koch as bail. Mrs. Koch, unaware of the deal, was surprised when she came home that evening and found the girl in her kitchen, still awaiting her friends' return.

About the Folks

Push Your Rival If You Want to Win

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

You can't sit still in a championship tournament and have points drop into your lap. When you get the right sort of hand you must try to push the opponents around a bit. If they fall down, you get a fine score. If they step aside, you probably find yourself on the floor with no points at all.

In last year's tournament there was a great deal of jockeying for unusual results, just as there is in the tournament now being held in Washington. One of the best bits of hornswoggling occurred in the hand shown today.

Dave Warner, of Philadelphia, held the South cards. He knew he had a miserable hand but hoped to get a good result by playing at some low diamond contract. For that purpose he made a psychic bid and then got on his bicycle.

South's spade overcall was promptly doubled, exactly as he had expected. If he had then immediately bid the diamonds, the opponents might have seen the trap and avoided it. Hence he first went to one no-trump.

West promptly doubled one no-trump also—and who can blame him? Now the time was ripe for Warner to mention the diamonds.

West quite properly passed. He had already shown a good hand and good spades. He didn't have good diamonds, so he could afford to pass and hear what his partner had to say.

East bit and never felt the hook. He should have known that his partner was short in diamonds since he had failed to double. He himself had only three diamonds, so it was fairly clear that South was in a fairly good trump suit. What's more, South must have known in advance that he had this spot to run to—and if South liked the contract it was pretty sure to be useless for his opponents.

However, East doubled, and all passed. West opened the king of diamonds, and dummy won with the ace. Now all Warner could lose was two trumps, two clubs and a heart. Two diamonds doubled and made was a very fine score considering the fact that East and West were spread for game in no-trump.

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 Spade	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass

You, South, hold: Spades A-K-J-7-3, Hearts A-10-5, Diamonds K-4, Clubs 9-6-3. What do you do?

A—Bid four no-trump. Your partner's hand is equal to a minimum opening no-trump bid. Therefore you are on the verge of a slam and can afford this general slam invitation. This raise in no-trump does not ask your partner to show aces.

Today's Question

The bidding has been the same as in the question just answered. You, South hold: Spades A-K-J-7-3, Hearts A-10-5, Diamonds K-4, Clubs Q-6-3. What do you do?

Two Cats Are Saved; One Honored in Death

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—It took a full-fledged, 46-hour rescue operation, but a gray and white tiger-striped kitten was free today—and probably wiser.

Kitty tumbled down a five-inch crevice between two Manhattan buildings while chasing pigeons on the roof.

A police emergency squad and the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals tried various rescue operations, including cutting a hole through one of the walls. But to no avail.

An ASPCA agent finally hauled the kitten out yesterday with a long, hooked pole after she ventured from under a pile of debris.

The unclaimed kitten was taken to an ASPCA shelter, where she could ponder the wisdom of future roof-top pigeon hunts.

Kitten Is Saved

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—A motherless 10-day-old kitten about the size of a fat cigar is safe today, thanks to the efforts of 22 men.

The men worked an hour yesterday to free the kitten from a wall where it was born.

The kitten's mother died Monday, apparently after being hit by a car.

Employes of an electrical supply company called the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals when they heard the kitten crying.

An SPCA agent and 21 other men worked with hammers, saws and chisels to free the kitten, which was turned over to the SPCA.

The mother had crawled about 15 feet through the wall to give birth to the kitten.

You can't sit still in a championship tournament and have points drop into your lap. When you get the right sort of hand you must try to push the opponents around a bit. If they fall down, you get a fine score. If they step aside, you probably find yourself on the floor with no points at all.

In last year's tournament there was a great deal of jockeying for unusual results, just as there is in the tournament now being held in Washington. One of the best bits of hornswoggling occurred in the hand shown today.

Dave Warner, of Philadelphia, held the South cards. He knew he had a miserable hand but hoped to get a good result by playing at some low diamond contract. For that purpose he made a psychic bid and then got on his bicycle.

South's spade overcall was promptly doubled, exactly as he had expected. If he had then immediately bid the diamonds, the opponents might have seen the trap and avoided it. Hence he first went to one no-trump.

West promptly doubled one no-trump also—and who can blame him? Now the time was ripe for Warner to mention the diamonds.

West quite properly passed. He had already shown a good hand and good spades. He didn't have good diamonds, so he could afford to pass and hear what his partner had to say.

East bit and never felt the hook. He should have known that his partner was short in diamonds since he had failed to double. He himself had only three diamonds, so it was fairly clear that South was in a fairly good trump suit. What's more, South must have known in advance that he had this spot to run to—and if South liked the contract it was pretty sure to be useless for his opponents.

However, East doubled, and all passed. West opened the king of diamonds, and dummy won with the ace. Now all Warner could lose was two trumps, two clubs and a heart. Two diamonds doubled and made was a very fine score considering the fact that East and West were spread for game in no-trump.

Q—The bidding has been:

You, South, hold: Spades A-K-J-7-3, Hearts A-10-5, Diamonds K-4, Clubs 9-6-3. What do you do?

A—Bid four no-trump. Your partner's hand is equal to a minimum opening no-trump bid. Therefore you are on the verge of a slam and can afford this general slam invitation. This raise in no-trump does not ask your partner to show aces.

Today's Question

The bidding has been the same as in the question just answered. You, South hold: Spades A-K-J-7-3, Hearts A-10-5, Diamonds K-4, Clubs Q-6-3. What do you do?

Two Cats Are Saved; One Honored in Death

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—It took a full-fledged, 46-hour rescue operation, but a gray and white tiger-striped kitten was free today—and probably wiser.

Kitty tumbled down a five-inch crevice between two Manhattan buildings while chasing pigeons on the roof.

A police emergency squad and the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals tried various rescue operations, including cutting a hole through one of the walls. But to no avail.

An ASPCA agent finally hauled the kitten out yesterday with a long, hooked pole after she ventured from under a pile of debris.

The unclaimed kitten was taken to an ASPCA shelter, where she could ponder the wisdom of future roof-top pigeon hunts.

Kitten Is Saved

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—A motherless 10-day-old kitten about the size of a fat cigar is safe today, thanks to the efforts of 22 men.

The men worked an hour yesterday to free the kitten from a wall where it was born.

The kitten's mother died Monday, apparently after being hit by a car.

Employes of an electrical supply company called the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals when they heard the kitten crying.

An SPCA agent and 21 other men worked with hammers, saws and chisels to free the kitten, which was turned over to the SPCA.

The mother had crawled about 15 feet through the wall to give birth to the kitten.

The cat could be compared to a human being 147 years old, Mrs. Williams said.

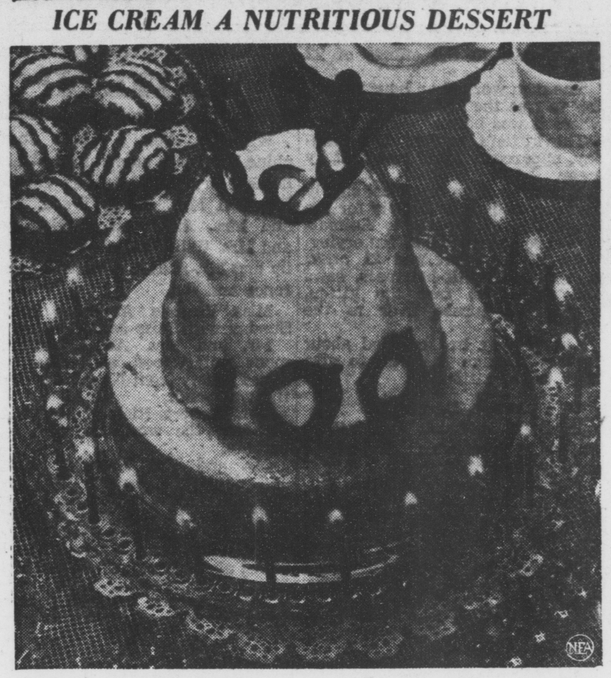
ICE CREAM A NUTRITIOUS DESSERT



Celebrate the 100th birthday of ice cream manufacture with this "confectioners" ice cream cake.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Ice cream is our favorite dessert by every survey. One hundred years ago, 1851, a man named Jacob Fussell of Baltimore first manufactured this dairy food commercially. Today, with millions of quarts being made annually, ice cream manufacture has become one of our major food industries. That may be one reason why our children are the happiest and best nourished in the world.

How about celebrating the ice cream centennial with a gala birthday cake.

Ice Cream Birthday Cake
(Serves 10 to 15)

One and one-half quarts strawberry ice cream (bulk), 1 quart vanilla ice cream (bulk), decorating candy.

Keep ice cream in freezing compartment while preparing candy decorations.

To make ice cream "cake": Pack the strawberry ice cream into a chilled layer cake tin 2 inches deep and 9 inches in diameter. Pack the vanilla ice cream into a chilled, deep round bowl or fancy mold about 7 inches in diameter.

To serve: Place serving plate over cake tin, then invert to unmold ice cream. Place another flat plate over deeper mold, invert, then slide vanilla ice cream off plate onto center of strawberry layer. Decorate with candy trimming and serve at once.

Note: If large freezing compartment is available, ice cream may be hardened and stored right in the molds. To unmold, invert and cover mold with towel wrung out of hot water until it can be lifted up, or dip quickly in hot water before unmolding.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Frozen orange juice, crisp bacon, ready mix muffins, strawberry jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Baked cucumbers stuffed with fish and bread crumbs, enriched crisp rolls, butter or fortified margarine, fruit cup, sweet crackers, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Oven fried chicken, butter gravy, mashed potatoes, snap beans, summer squash, buttered rolls, sliced tomatoes, ice cream cake, coffee, milk.

May we suggest a Sitting?

No doubt about it—you'll make a mighty handsome picture in a strapping new '51 Buick.

But it isn't the way you look, but the way you feel that's really important.

We'd like you to discover a Buick's ease and comfort, a Buick's power and performance, a Buick's steadiness and control—just to see if maybe you have been missing a travel treat.

We'd like you to discover what a valve-in-head engine, as Buick builds it—gingered with Fireball combustion—can mean in pulse-pounding thrill and in big miles-per-gallon figures.

We'd like you to learn what coil springs on all four wheels—not just the front ones—can do in the matter of smoothing a rough road and keeping you on a level keel.

We'd like you to see what generous roadweight and a rigid torque-tube mean in solid steadiness of ride—what Dynaflow Drive* does for you in downright comfort and convenience—what a breeze it is to handle so big and roomy and impressive a car.

Most of all, we'd like you to note the easy-to-take price tags our cars wear—what a whale of a lot more automobile you get for your money in today's Buicks than you'll get elsewhere.

So—come in for a sitting soon, won't you? Whether you try a SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER, you'll find it the top buy in its field—and a beauty from any angle.

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

ICE CREAM A NUTRITIOUS DESSERT

Celebrate the 100th birthday of ice cream manufacture with this "confectioners" ice cream cake.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Ice cream is our favorite dessert by every survey. One hundred years ago, 1851, a man named Jacob Fussell of Baltimore first manufactured this dairy food commercially. Today, with millions of quarts being made annually, ice cream manufacture has become one of our major food industries. That may be one reason why our children are the happiest and best nourished in the world.

How about celebrating the ice cream centennial with a gala birthday cake.

Ice Cream Birthday Cake
(Serves 10 to 15)

One and one-half quarts strawberry ice cream (bulk), 1 quart vanilla ice cream (bulk), decorating candy.

Keep ice cream in freezing compartment while preparing candy decorations.

To make ice cream "cake": Pack the strawberry ice cream into a chilled layer cake tin 2 inches deep and 9 inches in diameter. Pack the vanilla ice cream into a chilled, deep round bowl or fancy mold about 7 inches in diameter.

To serve: Place serving plate over cake tin, then invert to unmold ice cream. Place another flat plate over deeper mold, invert, then slide vanilla ice cream off plate onto center of strawberry layer. Decorate with candy trimming and serve at once.

Note: If large freezing compartment is available, ice cream may be hardened and stored right in the molds. To unmold, invert and cover mold with towel wrung out of hot water until it can be lifted up, or dip quickly in hot water before unmolding.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Frozen orange juice, crisp bacon, ready mix muffins, strawberry jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Baked cucumbers stuffed with fish and bread crumbs, enriched crisp rolls, butter or fortified margarine, fruit cup, sweet crackers, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Oven fried chicken, butter gravy, mashed potatoes, snap beans, summer squash, buttered rolls, sliced tomatoes, ice cream cake, coffee, milk.

May we suggest a Sitting?

No doubt about it—you'll make a mighty handsome picture in a strapping new '51 Buick.

But it isn't the way you look, but the way you feel that's really important.

We'd like you to discover a Buick's ease and comfort, a Buick's power and performance, a Buick's steadiness and control—just to see if maybe you have been missing a travel treat.

We'd like you to discover what a valve-in-head engine, as Buick builds it—gingered with Fireball combustion—can mean in pulse-pounding thrill and in big miles-per-gallon figures.

We'd like you to learn what coil springs on all four wheels—not just the front ones—can do in the matter of smoothing a rough road and keeping you on a level keel.

We'd like you to see what generous roadweight and a rigid torque-tube mean in solid steadiness of ride—what Dynaflow Drive* does for you in downright comfort and convenience—what a breeze it is to handle so big and roomy and impressive a car.

Most of all, we'd like you to note the easy-to-take price tags our cars wear—what a whale of a lot more automobile you get for your money in today's Buicks than you'll get elsewhere.

So—come in for a sitting soon, won't you? Whether you try a SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER, you'll find it the top buy in its field—and a beauty from any angle.

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

"Smart Buy's Buick"

Declares Sweden, Portugal to Pass Marshall Plan Aid

Paris, Aug. 1 (AP)—European Economic Aid Administrator William C. Foster says Sweden and Portugal have decided to get along without further Marshall dollar plan aid.

Foster said the two nations have joined Britain and Ireland in renouncing aid, because they are now able to function independently as a result of their recovery efforts during the past three years with Marshall plan support.

Both Sweden and Portugal will stay on as members of the organization of European Economic Cooperation and will continue to take part in the ECA technical assistance program.

Portugal's Marshall plan aid has amounted to $50,470,000 of which $5,500,000 was in the form of grants, $33,714,000 in loans and $8,256,000 in conditional aid.

Sweden's dollar aid was $118,452,000 of which $20,400,000 was in loans and $98,052,000 in conditional aid.

Mrs. Zam Wins Children's Custody

New York, Aug. 1 (AP) — Mrs. Helene Zam, 24-year-old night club violinist and accordion player, yesterday won the custody of her two children who allegedly were taken away last April by their father and hidden at the Tolstoi Foundation near Nyack, N. Y.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas Corcoran awarded the custody of Valentina, six, and Vladimir, four, to their blonde mother, who lives with her parents.

Mrs. Zam, who has played in New York and Hollywood, told Justice Corcoran that her husband, a textile designer, took the children away from their home and kept them at the Tolstoi Foundation until she forced him to produce them in court yesterday.

The husband, Leonid Zam, about 40, who claims to be a Russian count, answered his wife's writ of habeas corpus with the contention that she deserted him last December "on the pretext she was traveling with a road show as a musician."

Monteux Waits Twice

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—French Conductor Pierre Monteux last night refused to allow the roar of airplane engines to strike a discordant note in his outdoor Lewisohn Stadium orchestra concert. Twice planes flew over, and twice Monteux lowered his baton, waiting for the aircraft to get out of earshot. Then he started all over again from the beginning. It first happened with Wagner's "Forest Murmurs," then with Tchaikowsky's "Pathetique" symphony.

Three Are Accused Of Narcotics Sales

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Three prisoners were accused today of being principals in a nationwide narcotics ring making retail sales of more than $420,000 a week.

Police said the ring, reported as operating in all major cities of the United States, is believed to be linked to the mob of dope sellers reputedly dominated by Charles (Lucky) Luciano.

The three prisoners were arrested last night on the lower East side after four weeks of undercover work by rookie policemen and policewomen.

Capt. Peter Terranova, head of the Police Narcotics Bureau, said more operators linked to the same gang were at large throughout the nation. He would not say whether their identities were known to authorities.

Prisoners Held

The prisoners, charged with selling and possessing narcotics, were booked as:

Peter Galente, 38, of Manhattan, a Sing Sing Prison parolee, said by police to be the key man of the three.

Alfred Vomero, 38, of Brooklyn, nicknamed "Al the Cop."

Benjamin Sekzer, 37, of Brooklyn.

Capt. Terranova said Galente received about 64 ounces of pure heroin from Italy each week for $25,000. Galente cut the dope and resold it to "pushers" for $42,000, Terranova said, and the weekly shipment was worth $420,000 after further cuts before going to the consumers.

Police did not say whether last night's arrests had any connection with the international narcotics-counterfeit money ring reported smashed by federal agents last week-end. Twelve persons were arrested and held in a total of $598,500 bail. U. S. officials said the ring smuggled heroin into this country with an underworld market value of $30,000,000 over a three-year period.

Mrs. Zam Wins Children's Custody

New York, Aug. 1 (AP) — Mrs. Helene Zam, 24-year-old night club violinist and accordion player, yesterday won the custody of her two children who allegedly were taken away last April by their father and hidden at the Tolstoi Foundation near Nyack, N. Y.

Supreme Court Justice Thomas Corcoran awarded the custody of Valentina, six, and Vladimir, four, to their blonde mother, who lives with her parents.

Mrs. Zam, who has played in New York and Hollywood, told Justice Corcoran that her husband, a textile designer, took the children away from their home and kept them at the Tolstoi Foundation until she forced him to produce them in court yesterday.

The husband, Leonid Zam, about 40, who claims to be a Russian count, answered his wife's writ of habeas corpus with the contention that she deserted him last December "on the pretext she was traveling with a road show as a musician."

Monteux Waits Twice

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—French Conductor Pierre Monteux last night refused to allow the roar of airplane engines to strike a discordant note in his outdoor Lewisohn Stadium orchestra concert. Twice planes flew over, and twice Monteux lowered his baton, waiting for the aircraft to get out of earshot. Then he started all over again from the beginning. It first happened with Wagner's "Forest Murmurs," then with Tchaikowsky's "Pathetique" symphony.

Stollers Are Guest Speakers at Recent Townsend Club Rally

Mr. and Mrs. David N. Stoller, local Townsend Club officials of 222 Elmendorf street, this city, were guest speakers at the 31st Congressional District rally of Townsend Clubs held July 27 in Schenectady. They also spoke the next night at the 33rd Congressional District rally at Hudson Falls.

Mrs. Stoller, who is president of Kingston Townsend Club, was reported as giving "a conclusive and graphic report of the 11th Townsend National Convention," which was held early in July in Detroit, Mich. Mr. Stroller, who is one of 12 Townsend national councilmen, spoke of the council's functions, mentioning several issues which will be carried out by the organization this year on a national scale. These will include Townsend tag day, the printing of Townsend post cards, and a fund to be amassed for use in radio and television.

Both rallies were reported having record attendance, despite the current heat wave. Previous to each meeting, supper was served, and a musical program offered.

The Schenectady meeting was arranged by Mrs. Ida Brown, while the Hudson Falls rally was under the supervision of Mrs. Catherine Brayton, deputy of her district.

National Grange Master Newsom was an interested participant in the nine-state Lecturers Conference on the Cornell campus last week. Spending the better part of two days with the folks, he took time from his busy schedule to get acquainted, as well as to give some reports on the national agricultural picture. Ed Holter, our National Lecturer, came along, too, and we fixed him up with some practical ideas for his Maryland dairy farm.

Pay-As-We-Go tax policy was emphasized by National Grange Master Herschel Newsom in testimony which received careful attention from members of the Senate Finance Committee recently. With a strong National Grange tax policy behind him, Newsom was able to point out that "the nation must find the courage to face the tax problem directly rather than continuing to impose more hidden taxes. In trying to soften the tax burden of the individual, we have actually ignored his ability to pay. The low income family with a dozen pair of shoes to buy pays the same proportionate share of the corporate tax bill per pair, as the high income family with fewer pairs to buy." Also Mr. Newsom suggested that "the key to a successful mobilization effort is more production and an adequate tax and fiscal policy, rather than this maneuvering for 'preferred position'."

Bronx Woman Held On Abortion Charge

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—A Bronx woman who allegedly performed two or three abortions monthly for the past 18 months was arrested in her apartment yesterday by detectives who were alerted to the situation by the near-death of a 17-year-old Croton, girl, police reported.

Booked on a charge of criminal abortion and held for arraignment in Bronx Felony Court was Mrs. Alina Lawrence, 28, mother of two children, of 842 Kelly street.

Detectives who made the arrest said the woman admitted operating in her home for the past year and a half.

According to detectives, Mrs. Lawrence performed an abortion in her apartment about two months ago on the 17-year-old girl. Shortly after returning to her home the girl was hospitalized. She required six blood transfusions and an operation to save her life. The Westchester county district attorney was notified and the subsequent investigation led to the Bronx woman.

Yesterday, a young man who reportedly brought the pregnant girl to Mrs. Lawrence was used by police to make an appointment with the alleged abortionist. At the appointed time the detectives went to the apartment and made the arrest.

YOUR FRIEND IN THE WRONG

A reader says: "My mother insisted that I couldn't give my sister a shower, that it wasn't proper except for a friend of hers. So I asked one of her friends to give it at her house and send the invitations, but I paid for the the party. I didn't want my sister not to have such a party and no one seemed to suggest one. Newspaper Wedding Announcements

Dear Mrs. Post: When sending the facts for an announcement of my daughter's wedding in the newspaper, is such an announcement paid for?

Answer: Information addressed to the Society Editor is never paid for. This is, of course, no assurance as to how much of it will be printed.

Celebrating Bride's and Groom's Arrival

Dear Mrs. Post: My brother is bringing back a bride from abroad. Mother wants to know if we may give them a reception and may we serve a wedding cake this long afterward. She is bringing her wedding dress and veil with her and we also wanted to know if she may wear them on this occasion?

Answer: Her dress yes, but please not her veil. The other details are entirely proper.

Engagement Ring Not Necessary

Dear Mrs. Post: Don't you think everyone feels it's necessary for a girl to have an engagement ring in order to become engaged? Here they speak of getting the ring as they would the engagement itself. For instance, "Are you getting your ring so we can give you a party?"

Answer: Very definitely an engagement ring is not a necessity as is a wedding ring. It is usual to get a ring, but there are many occasions when a man cannot afford it and the engagement is certainly valid without it.

Engagement Ring Not Necessary

Dear Mrs. Post: Don't you think everyone feels it's necessary for a girl to have an engagement ring in order to become engaged? Here they speak of getting the ring as they would the engagement itself. For instance, "Are you getting your ring so we can give you a party?"

Answer: Very definitely an engagement ring is not a necessity as is a wedding ring. It is usual to get a ring, but there are many occasions when a man cannot afford it and the engagement is certainly valid without it.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of '48, and is employed with the Personal Finance Co., this city. Mr. Bryant attended Newburgh High School and served for four years during World War 2 with the U. S. Navy in the Pacific Theatre. He is an employe of the U. S. Hoffman Machinery Corp., Poughkeepsie.

Jane Lloyd-Jones, Van Williams Bring Great Good Humor to Woodstock Stage

Tovarich is of that species of comedy that can flourish, flower, and bear fruit in almost any soil, and it has been for the last 15 years. It has all the right ingredients for summer stock: A fast paced plot, a plausible yet ludicrous basic situation, and a lot of laughs. Playing Tovarich is a little like planting nasturtiums—the results are bound to approach the expectations.

For just about the first time this summer the Woodstock stage is host to much great good humor, which is half playwright Deval's fault, and half the fault of Van Williams and Jane Lloyd-Jones. Collectively, and separately they turned in the best sustained performance of the season. Even through a slow-paced first act, they attracted, and maintained their audience's interest and attention. Mr. Williams is a versatile actor, and Woodstock's lucky to have him. You don't type the gentleman easily. But he makes a far better White Russian exile than he does a trigger happy GI, witness A Sound of Hunting.

Miss Lloyd-Jones (Grand Duchess Tatiana Petrovna) was, without doubt, the season's most enjoyable heroine. She knows how to attract an audience, and how to let it forget her. She understands the almost heroic art of integration and submersion. And, unlike most actresses, she knows how to use hand gestures.

Newcomer Shines

Howard Caine, a newcomer to the Playhouse, cast as Charles Dupont, a wealthy middleclass French banker, vies for the orchids being tossed about. Ditto for Dorothy McLaughlin of Trio fame, who played Dupont's wife, Fernande. Joan Ewig, and still another newcomer Ray Stricklyn, as the Dupont children, George and Helene, are well worth mentioning. Miss Ewig is a charming ingenue, and nothing, even a mock fencing match, appears to disturb Mr. Stricklyn's aplomb.

Boris Marshalov as Commissar Gorotchenko, a wily fellow and scarlet to the tips of his ears, far outshone his last week's performance. He is convincingly disagreeable, without being obnoxious.

Included in this week's cast were two Woodstock matrons, Julia Stifler as Madame Van Hemert, and Fitzi Streibel as Madame Chauffourier-Dubieff, Heywood Hale Broun's stage wife. Mr. Broun, as usual, turned in a competent performance. Others appearing briefly were Sandra Fisher as Olga, John Sydow as Martelleau, Ana Leonard as Louise, Will Davis as Count Feodor Brekenski, and Penny Davis as the concierge.

Imaginative Staging

Jean Laurain, stepping backstage, deserves some sort of accolade for his settings. When there isn't a revolving stage, and a play has four separate scenes, imagination and ingenuity are the only solution. Mr. Laurain used both, lavishly, and effectively. He has managed to create illusions of squalor and elegance with equal force. Moreover, while the power of suggestion is used, it is never overworked.

Tovarich is no great dramatic masterpiece. It's just a funny comedy, which, incidentally, many comedies are not. It was not meant to be world shattering. It was meant to give theatre-goers a very pleasant evening, and it does.

Stone Ridge Bride

Mrs. Joseph R. Fuesy, the former Helen Marie Weber of Stone Ridge, as she appeared during her wedding at St. Joseph's Church, this city, Sunday. (Brentwood Photo)

Helen Marie Weber Becomes the Bride Of Joseph R. Fuesy

Miss Helen Marie Weber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Weber of Stone Ridge became the bride of Joseph Ralph Fuesy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fuesy, 133 West 89th street, New York, Sunday afternoon during a 2 o'clock ceremony at St. Joheph's Church, this city. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. James J. Keating, assistant pastor of that parish. Traditional organ music was played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty.

Mr. Weber gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of embroidered organdy, en train, fashioned with an illusion net neckline, and long sleeves. Her fingertip veil was fastened at each side with orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of gladioli, and bridal wreath.

Miss Rita Finnerty of Croton-on-Hudson was maid of honor. She was dressed in an aqua organdy gown, with a white eyelet embroidery design. She carried a bouquet of aqua gladioli and white bridal wreath, and wore a matching flower tiara in her hair.

The groom's brother, Ralph Fuesy of New York, was best man. Serving as ushers were Ludwig Weber of Norfolk, Va., brother of the bride, and Adolph Sommer of New Milford, N. J., cousin of the bride.

A reception and dinner for 70 guests followed at The Alpine. Mr. and Mrs. Fuesy then left for their wedding trip through New England. They will make their home in Croton-on-Hudson. For traveling the bride wore a mauve silk organza dress, with navy accessories.

Mrs. Fuesy received her bachelor of science degree from New Paltz State Teachers College, graduating with the class of '50. During the past year she was a member of the faculty at Pierre Van Cortland Elementary School, Croton-on-Hudson.

Mr. Fuesy is an alumnus of Fordham University, New York. He has served with the U. S. Army, and is now attending New York Medical School.

Woodstock, July 31—A pretty waitress at Deanie's earning her way through college has been chosen by one of the art colony's painters as a model for pictures officially requested by the governments of Mexico and Brazil.

Paul Meltsner is the artist who was attracted by her beauty as she served him at the restaurant.

Meltsner claims the distinction of having his painting Family Portrait displayed in the Palace of Fine Arts, the national museum of Mexico.

Thirteen of his paintings, he said, have been purchased by a private collector, and emphasized that Billy Rose started his collection with 10 Meltsner works of art.

Meltsner said he has a commission on the way to paint a study of Supreme Court Justice Douglas.

Too Fat?

Ask Your Doctor about the latest medical discovery-WAFEX!

Which makes you lose excess FAT SAFELY without dieting—hunger

NO CALORIE COUNTING! NO DIETS! NO EXERCISES!

Your doctor probably knows about and approves of the latest, scientific way to get rid of ugly excess fat.

It is called Wafex, and one of the things your doctor likes about it is that Wafex is absolutely safe. It is not a drug but a food adjunct.

Wafex is the discovery of a group of New York doctors.

These doctors had been trying to solve the overweight person's most vexing problem—how to lose weight without dieting or hunger.

While these doctors realized that, except in those unusual cases of glandular obesity dieting was the best way to slim down, it had one serious drawback—hunger.

Many people, not being able to resist the hunger dieting caused, ate between meals or went off their diets entirely. And of course the excess fat returned.

What these dotors were seeking was a formula that would make dieting unnecessary by automatically preveating overweight folks from overeating—and at the same time, stop hunger.

They succeeded with Wafex.

WAFEX PROVED SAFE AND EFFECTIVE BY ACTUAL CLINICAL TESTS

The doctors tested Wafex clinically on a large group of really overweight people.

One Wafex Wafer has the hunger-satisfying capacity of 2 ham sandwiches, or 5 slices of white bread, or 4 eggs. Yet contains only 5 calories.

These people were instructed by the doctors not to go on any special diet, not to cut out any special foods. Just chew or suck a pleasant Wafex Wafer half an hour before meals, then sit down at the table and eat until satisfied.

The results were amazing. Every member of the group lost 8 to 20 pounds in a short time. In fact, weight losses were noted the very first week. Not one reported a single hunger moment.

PHYSICAL CHECKUPS MADE

During the tests the doctors carefully checked the physical condition of each person—took electrocardiograms—and found every one in excellent condition.

Wafex is truly a momentous discovery for overweight people—especially for those who dislike dieting, cutting out favorite foods or feeling hungry.

Your druggist or Health Food store has Wafex. Only $3 for month's supply.

MONEY BACK IF NOT PLEASED

If you aren't happy with the weight you lose after the very first bottle of Wafex your druggist will refund your money.

Men: Why not try Wafex, the natural way to take off excess weight that's neither good for you nor good to look at.

It is called Wafex, and one of the things your doctor likes about it is that Wafex is absolutely safe. It is not a drug but a food adjunct.

Wafex is the discovery of a group of New York doctors.

These doctors had been trying to solve the overweight person's most vexing problem—how to lose weight without dieting or hunger.

While these doctors realized that, except in those unusual cases of glandular obesity dieting was the best way to slim down, it had one serious drawback—hunger.

Many people, not being able to resist the hunger dieting caused, ate between meals or went off their diets entirely. And of course the excess fat returned.

What these dotors were seeking was a formula that would make dieting unnecessary by automatically preventing overweight folks from overeating—and at the same time, stop hunger.

They succeeded with Wafex.

WAFEX PROVED SAFE AND EFFECTIVE BY ACTUAL CLINICAL TESTS

The doctors tested Wafex clinically on a large group of really overweight people.

Men: Why not try Wafex, the natural way to take off excess weight that's neither good for you nor good to look at.

One Wafex Wafer has the hunger-satisfying capacity of 2 ham sandwiches, or 5 slices of white bread, or 4 eggs. Yet contains only 5 calories.

These people were instructed by the doctors not to go on any special diet, not to cut out any special foods. Just chew or suck a pleasant Wafex Wafer half an hour before meals, then sit down at the table and eat until satisfied.

The results were amazing. Every member of the group lost 8 to 20 pounds in a short time. In fact, weight losses were noted the very first week. Not one reported a single hunger moment.

PHYSICAL CHECKUPS MADE

During the tests the doctors carefully checked the physical condition of each person — took electrocardiograms — and found every one in excellent condition.

Wafex is truly a momentous discovery for overweight people—especially for those who dislike dieting, cutting out favorite foods or feeling hungry.

Your druggist or Health Food store has Wafex. Only $3 for month's supply.

MONEY BACK IF NOT PLEASED

If you aren't happy with the weight you lose after the very first bottle of Wafex your druggist will refund your money.

KAA Little Leaguers Meet Hudson Valley Stars in Tournament Debut

The KAA Little League All Stars will send their ace right hander —Tony Turck—against the hard hitting Hudson Valley All Stars of Rhinecliff in their District 4 tournament debut this evening at St. Mary's Field.

Game time is 6:15 and tournament officials predict a seasonal high attendance, weather permitting.

Turck is undefeated in Little League competition to date and has been the bellwether of the first place Yankees' hurling corps.

Hudson Elks choked off a sixth-inning threat by Millerton Mid-County's All Stars in Tuesday's game to win a 3-2 squeaker and qualify for the finals on Thursday.

Trailing 3-1, Millerton loaded the bases but managed to score only one run on an error at shortstop. Another base runner attempted to score on the same play and was nailed at the plate.

Larry Clow, Hudson's chubby right hander, checked the Dutchess tossers with five hits but issued eight walks that kept him in trouble. He pounded two singles and was the only player on either side with more than one safety.

The contest was nearly interrupted by rain in the fifth inning by a late evening shower but the weather cleared and the teams were able to complete the required six innings.

Hard Game Expected

Walt Black, the All-Star coach, predicts a tough battle for the local prides.

"That Hudson Valley squad is the biggest team in the tournament from a standpoint of size and experience," he observed, "but if our pitching holds up the way we think it can we will give a good account of ourselves."

Black did not issue a starting lineup but he has a standout group to choose from. Backing Turck in the pitching department will be southpaw Glenn Newell and right hander Ernie Madison of the Dodgers and Lorenzo Giannuzzo, Red Sox southpaw.

Big Pete Blanschan, doubles king of the league, and willowy Ronnie Ashdown, runnerup to Joe Hoffman in the home run department, are available for catching duty.

The power department features Joe Hoffman, who leads with five home runs; Tommy Davitt, Bill Cragan, Seymour Semilof and Tony Amato. All are batting .400 or better and have most of the extra base power in the league.

If the KAA squad wins today's game they will play Hudson in the tournament finals on Thursday.

Remedy for Snake Bite

Pecos, Tex., (AP)—Mrs. Artie Justis, 59, was bitten on the foot by a rattlesnake that way lying on her living room floor. Instead of rushing to town for medical attention, she ripped her foot open with an upholstering needle and applied a common household item, alum, to her wound. She was paralyzed for several hours, her foot turned green, but she recovered. Her foot is still slightly swollen.

175 Will Tee Off In Tam O'Shanter

Chicago, Aug. 1, (AP)—The first lap of the world's richest golf meet—the complex $75,000 Tam O'Shanter extravaganza — starts tomorrow with a mixed field of nearly 175 players.

The first section of George S. May's package deal is tabbed the "All-American" tournament. It's a 72-hole medal affair running through Sunday.

It's really three tourneys in one. Some 30 of the country's best men amateurs compete for the All-American Amateur crown. An equal number of women tee off in another division with $3,500 in prize money going to the professional winners.

Nearly 115 men pros also get into the traffic jam on the 6,700-yard par 72 playground.

LITTLE LEAGUE MOGULS MEET AT TOURNAMENT

Presidents of three area Little Leagues got together for some friendly bantering and discussion of tournament details prior to the opening of District 4 play yesterday at St. Mary's Field. In usual order: Lou Sigloch, Hudson Valley League (Rhinecliff); Robert Umpleby, Kingston AA League; and Tom Donohue, Chatham Little League. Hudson Valley swamped Chatham, 15-2 in the opener. Games are scheduled daily through Thursday at 6:15 p. m. (Freeman Photo)

Cragan Top LL Hitter

Bill Cragan, the shining light of the Red Sox squad, leads the Little League batters with a powerful .571 average, while Joe Hoffman, home run king of the circuit, is clouting the pill at .516, according to latest official averages.

Cragan, Hoffman and Pete Blanschan, Giant catcher, each are credited with 16 hits, but the difference in average is the result of varying numbers of at bats.

Blanschan is clubbing at .470, while Ronnie Ashdown, Yankee receiver, and brother, Don Ashdown, are pounding at a .444 clip. Tom "Fibber" Davitt, Dodger first sacker, is hitting .428; Gene Nagele, Yankees, .407 and Pete Esposito, Giants, .400.

Joe Hoffman, who launched his Litttle League career with three home runs, leads in the Babe Ruth specialty with five. Runnerup Ronnie Ashdown of the Yankees has three.

Charlie Bishop, Yankees, has two triples to lead in that department. Pete Blanschan leads in doubles with six, while Tom Davitt and Bill Cragan have five each.

Turck Tops Pitchers

Tony Turck, unbeaten Yankee flinger, has reeled off five straight victories to lead the pitching corps, while starting and finishing five games. Seymour Semilof has gone the distance in three straight for a 3-0 record.

Joe Reynolds, Giants, is even up at 3-3, a mark also held by Glenn Newell, of the Dodgers.

Boice, Eck and Stifler Tabbed Title Threats

Ellenville Golfer Real Dark Horse

Alvin Boice, two-time Twaalfskill Golf Club champion and city kingpin in 1949, heads the latest batch of entries for the Father Herdegen Memorial golf tournament.

Besides Boice, there are three other club champions entered:

Richard Eck—long-hitting Ellenville ace, who won the Shawangunk Country Club title and the Thayer Handicap Trophy in 1950.

Edward Remmert — Three-time Twaalfskill champion, 1943, 1946 and 1947; city finalist in 1947.

Boice's reputation was established locally after his stunning upset victory over Leon Randall in 1949, but Eck, the Ellenville siege gun may prove the outstanding darkhorse of the tournament. A proven 5-handicap performer, Eck has all the equipment to upset the more favored stars.

Bill Stifler, who will represent the Woodstock Country Club, won the Amherst, Mass. club championship in 1938.

Other recent entries include Bob Cullum and Bill Costello, of Wiltwyck. Cullum is an established veteran who has been shooting good golf for several seasons, but Costello is a comparative newcomer who was elevated to the handicap ranks on the strength of outstanding performances this season at the Hurley avenue links.

KHS Stars Enter

Two members of the Kingston High School squad—Brian Smith and Gerald Wells—have also been entered. Wells played four years of varsity golf with the Maroon, from 1947 through 1950. He qualified for the New York Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament in 1949 and 1950.

A late entry from the Shawangunk Country Club is Frank Bilyeu. The Shawangunk youth is well known to local bowlers as a crack performer in the Hudson Valley League. He is a nine-handicap player who has done much to stir up interest in the Father Herdegen Memorial in that section of the county.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn qualified with his 10-handicap at Twaalfskill. Capable of shooting par figures on good days, the D.A. says he has been looking forward to this kind of competition for a long time.

The final entry list is expected to list 30 of the foremost amateur golfers in Ulster county. They will compete in 10 three-somes on August 11, 12 and 19.

The 18-hole finals are scheduled for the Woodstock Country Club on August 19.

Garver Hurt

Boston, Aug. 1 (AP)—Ned Garver, one of baseball's top competitors, is lost to the St. Louis Browns for an indefinite period because of a pulled muscle in his leg. The young pitcher belted a run-scoring single in the fifth inning against the Red Sox last night and slipped rounding first base. The Browns won, 8-6.

Yesterday's Stars

Anti-trust laws protect the little fellows from having the big boys gang up on them.

They work just the other way around in baseball, as interpreted by the Department of Justice.

Shaughnessy

If Rep. Emanuel Celler really wants to do something for the game, the chairman of the House sub-committee on monopoly will recommend legislation exempting it from the anti-trust laws insofar as re-broadcasting and re-televising major league games in minor league territory is concerned. At a time when it has much more important things to attend to, the House is launching an investigation of organized baseball, you see.

Emanuel Celler

Representative Celler might also advise the major league owners against themselves, for they are only killing their own business by glorifying members of parent clubs in minor league country.

• Minors Saturated With Big League Baseball:

Individual clubs are free to work out their own rules regarding radio and video. If a vote could be taken, re-broadcasting and re-televising undoubtedly would go out the window, but under the present legal setup the Department of Justice would regard that as conspiracy.

One front office being afraid that another will get something it missed, the mapor league clubs sell re-broadcasting and re-televising rights for inconsequential amounts compared with the cost to their minor league departments.

Minor league cities hear, a number of them see, major league baseball on the air day and night, starting on the Pacific coast at 11 a. m.

And how are they going to sell them budding Joe McGuff; struggling Sam Simpson and fading Frankie Usetowas when they've already had free, gratis and for nothing the DiMaggios, Ted Williamses, Musials, Kiners and Jackie Robinsons?

• Two Cities Without Broadcasting:

President Frank Shaughnessy of the International League, could tell Representative Celler and his subcommittee plenty. How major league broadcasting and televising chased organized ball out of Newark and Jersey City, which long enjoyed one of the sport's keener rivalries.

That is quite all right with Shaughnessy, however, for Newark and Jersey City are too close to New York and Brooklyn to escape the Yankee, Giant and Dodger wave lengths and channels.

It is re-broadcasting and re-televising in burgs removed to which Shaughnessy and all other minor league officials object.

Frank Shaughnessy could give Representative Celler and his foragers a striking illustration. It is that half of this year's attendance in the eight-club Class Triple A International League will come from the two cities—Montreal and Toronto—in which there is no minor league radio and television.

In two years, major league re-broadcasting and re-televising has done the minors more damage than they have suffered since the depression.

Tab Rubenstein Key in Cage Fix

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Jack Rubenstein, the Brooklyn fruit peddler accused of trying to fix last year's NCAA championship basketball game between City College of New York and Bradley, is a "vital link," in a fix mob, according to Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor.

"This charge is but a part of the total criminal activity in the furtherance of corrupting basketball players in which this defendant engaged in New York and other states," O'Connor said at his arraignment yesterday.

"He is a vital link to a fix mob containing underworld characters operating in a group of states with various college basketball teams," O'Connor added. "But he is the top figure of this underworld clique."

O'Connor said, further, that information has been turned up that will make Rubenstein wanted in other states.

Rubenstein, a friend of Jack (Zip) West, who is being hunted in five states on charges of bribing Bradley and Toledo players to shave points in games, is accused of being a member of the syndicate which tried to "do business" with All-America Gene Melchiorre of Bradley in the playoff game.

KAA Little Leaguers Meet Hudson Valley Stars in Tournament Debut

The KAA Little League All Stars will send their ace right hander —Tony Turck—against the hard hitting Hudson Valley All Stars of Rhinecliff in their District 4 tournament debut this evening at St. Mary's Field.

Game time is 6:15 and tournament officials predict a seasonal high attendance, weather permitting.

Turck is undefeated in Little League competition to date and has been the bellwether of the first place Yankees' hurling corps.

Hudson Elks choked off a sixth-inning threat by Millerton Mid-County's All Stars in Tuesday's game to win a 3-2 squeaker and qualify for the finals on Thursday.

Trailing 3-1, Millerton loaded the bases but managed to score only one run on an error at short-stop. Another base runner attempted to score on the same play and was nailed at the plate.

Larry Clow, Hudson's chubby right hander, checked the Dutchess tossers with five hits but issued eight walks that kept him in trouble. He pounded two singles and was the only player on either side with more than one safety.

The contest was nearly interrupted by rain in the fifth inning by a late evening shower but the weather cleared and the teams were able to complete the required six innings.

Hard Game Expected

Walt Black, the All-Star coach, predicts a tough battle for the local prides.

"That Hudson Valley squad is the biggest team in the tournament from a standpoint of size and experience," he observed, "but if our pitching holds up the way we think it can we will give a good account of ourselves."

Black did not issue a starting lineup but he has a standout group to choose from. Backing Turck in the pitching department will be southpaw Glenn Newell and right hander Ernie Madison of the Dodgers and Lorenzo Giannuzzo, Red Sox southpaw.

Big Pete Blanschan, doubles king of the league, and willowy Ronnie Ashdown, runnerup to Joe Hoffman in the home run department, are available for catching duty.

The power department features Joe Hoffman, who leads with five home runs; Tommy Davitt, Bill Cragan, Seymour Semilof and Tony Amato. All are batting .400 or better and have most of the extra base power in the league.

If the KAA squad wins today's game they will play Hudson in the tournament finals on Thursday.

Nearly 115 men pros also get into the traffic jam on the 6,700-yard par 72 playground.

Individual clubs are free to work out their own rules regarding radio and video. If a vote could be taken, re-broadcasting and re-televising undoubtedly would go out the window, but under the present legal setup the Department of Justice would regard that as conspiracy.

One front office being afraid that another will get something it missed, the mapor league clubs sell re-broadcasting and re-televising rights for inconsequential amounts compared with the cost to their minor league departments.

Minor league cities hear, a number of them see, major league baseball on the air day and night, starting on the Pacific coast at 11 a. m.

And how are they going to sell them budding Joe McGuff; struggling Sam Simpson and fading Frankie Usetowas when they've already had free, gratis and for nothing the DiMaggios, Ted Williamses, Musials, Kiners and Jackie Robinsons?

• Two Cities Without Broadcasting:

President Frank Shaughnessy of the International League, could tell Representative Celler and his subcommittee plenty. How major league broadcasting and televising chased organized ball out of Newark and Jersey City, which long enjoyed one of the sport's keener rivalries.

That is quite all right with Shaughnessy, however, for Newark and Jersey City are too close to New York and Brooklyn to escape the Yankee, Giant and Dodger wave lengths and channels.

It is re-broadcasting and re-televising in burgs removed to which Shaughnessy and all other minor league officials object.

Frank Shaughnessy could give Representative Celler and his foragers a striking illustration. It is that half of this year's attendance in the eight-club Class Triple A International League will come from the two cities—Montreal and Toronto—in which there is no minor league radio and television.

In two years, major league re-broadcasting and re-televising has done the minors more damage than they have suffered since the depression.

Tab Rubenstein Key in Cage Fix

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—Jack Rubenstein, the Brooklyn fruit peddler accused of trying to fix last year's NCAA championship basketball game between City College of New York and Bradley, is a "vital link," in a fix mob, according to Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor.

"This charge is but a part of the total criminal activity in the furtherance of corrupting basketball players in which this defendant engaged in New York and other states," O'Connor said at his arraignment yesterday.

"He is a vital link to a fix mob containing underworld characters operating in a group of states with various college basketball teams," O'Connor added. "But he is the top figure of this underworld clique."

O'Connor said, further, that information has been turned up that will make Rubenstein wanted in other states.

Rubenstein, a friend of Jack (Zip) West, who is being hunted in five states on charges of bribing Bradley and Toledo players to shave points in games, is accused of being a member of the syndicate which tried to "do business" with All-America Gene Melchiorre of Bradley in the playoff game.

Colonials Drop Third Straight One-Run Decision in Oneonta, 3-2

Sold to Rome

Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., today announced the sale of Lou Kramberg, Colonial rightfielder, to the Rome Colonels on a straight cash basis.

The purchase price was not disclosed.

The Colonials also announced the signing of Dick Ostrander, veteran Border League flinger, who will join the club in Gloversville tonight.

An early season batting sensation, Kramberg, a power hitter when he's clicking, slumped dismally until about a week ago when he began to show signs of life.

Kramberg's sale leaves the Colonials with an outfield composed of Sam Piacentino in left, Scotty Tortoriello in center and Bill O'Brien in right. The latter apparently will be retained for the season.

Tortoriello missed the last two games because of illness in the family but will be in the lineup against Gloversville tonight.

A special meeting of the officials and directors of KBC has been called for 8 o'clock tonight at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

Colorado's State Flower

Colorado chose the white and lavender columbine as its state flower in 1899 because—according to local authorities—the blue represents western skies; the white, snowy mountain ranges, and gold, the mineral which first attracted settlers in 1858.

Win in Eleventh Gives Red Sox Sweep of Series

Ayers Loses in Relief; Go to Gloversville

If our Colonials aren't impressed by James Fenimore Cooper's glowing descriptions of the country around Oneonta and nearby Lake Otsego, you can't blame them.

Heading for Gloversville where the pitching is easier, Manager John Sosh's slump-ridden charges probably wish they had never seen those beautiful Ostego hills.

It was plain murder the way the league-leading Red Sox grabbed three one-run decisions in two days, while limiting the Colonials to three runs and 11 hits.

Last night's 3 to 2 loss in 11 innings was the final crusher. Charlie Ayers was tagged with the setback but youthful Charlie, Bobby Kunze, who made his first start, and Charlie Borden had restricted the powerful Red Sox to just six runs and 13 hits, par for the course under normal circumstances.

Both in Slump

Obviously, the situation around Oneonta the past few days was not normal. Steve Shields, the Oneonta sports editor said "We're in a slump." Meaning, the Red Sox, of course. What does that make the Colonials.

Bobby Kunze yielded only five hits in the regulation nine innings. He walked five and struck out the same number and gave solid indication that he would be a big factor in the remainder of the schedule.

Ayers, who had lost a toughie the night before, pitched a scoreless tenth but the Osox wrapped him up quickly in the bottom of the 11th.

Bob Guttilla walked. Archie Getgen sacrificed. Arnie Spence doubled to right center. And it was all over, just as quickly as that.

Gavel, the Oneonta starter, allowed only two hits in eight innings but had only a 2-2 tie to show for his efforts. Charlie Gersten, who finished the game, was credited with the victory.

The Colonials picked up their first run in the fifth on Bill O'Brien's walk; Bobby Kunze's sacrifice and Dennis Healey's single to right. Healey walked, advanced on Jack Bickett's sacrifice and scored on Gene Zubrinski's single to center in the eighth. Zubrinski singled with one out in the 11th but the Colonials were not able to move him.

Zubrinski had two of the Colonials' three hits, both singles, while the six Oneonta safeties went to six different players.

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's onrushing Indians loomed today as the chief threat to New York's hopes of retaining the American League crown now that Boston's Red Sox are showing signs of losing their magic touch at Fenway Park.

Continuing to rebound from two straight lickings at Yankee Stadium, the Indians last night made it four victories in their last five games by conquering the Senators in Washington, 5-3.

The triumph gave the Tribe undisputed possession of second place, two games behind the Yankees and one in front of the third place Red Sox.

The Red Sox, in absorbing a shocking 8-6 setback at the hands of the lowly St. Louis Browns, now have lost four out of seven since returning to Fenway Park where they were believed to be well-nigh invincible.

Chicago's first half season flashes continued to plunge downward, dropping a 4-2 decision to the Philadelphia Athletics. The defeat, the 10th in their last 11 games, dropped the fourth place White Sox a discouraging seven and a half games behind the idle Yankees.

Dodgers Sailing

The arrival of August finds the Brooklyn Dodgers sailing along serenely with a nine and half game advantage in what is laughingly called the National League pennant race. The runaway Dodgers ran their victory skein to 10 in a row with an 8-3 win in Pittsburgh.

New York's runner-up Giants kept pace with a 4-3 victory in Chicago. Philadelphia's defending champion Phillies swept past St. Louis into third place with a 7-5 triumph in Cincinnati while the Boston Braves were shutting out the Cardinals, 6-0.

Bob Feller, baseball's biggest winner, notched his 16th triumph as the Indians rallied for three runs in the top of the ninth to overcome a 3-2 Washington lead. Righthander Don Johnson retired the first batter in the ninth but never got another man out.

Ned Garver, Brownie ace, appeared on the way to his 14th victory but was forced to leave in the fifth inning after pulling a muscle in his left leg. Satchell Paige, who took over, picked up the victory although he was shelled in a three-run eighth.

Hank Majeski, obtained from Chicago in a mid-season deal, paced the Athletics to their win over the White Sox. The slugging third baseman made three of Philadelphia's eight hits, scored three runs and homered against his former mates.

Don Newcombe hurled his 15th win for Brooklyn as the Dodgers hammered Howie Pollet and three successors for 16 hits. Newcombe starred at bat, too, with three hits, Duke Snider and Pee Wee Reese homered for the league leaders.

Bobby Thomson drove in all New York's runs with a pair of homers in the Giants' victory over the Cubs. Jim Hearn was credited with his 10th victory although he needed help from Sheldon Jones and Sal Maglie.

The Phils, still smarting from Manager Eddie Sawyer's tongue-lashing on slacking, rallied for six runs in the ninth to overcome a 5-1 deficit and whip the Reds, 7-5. Del Ennis' three-run homer off Howie Fox highlighted the assault.

Rookie Chet Nichols hurled the shutout for the Braves, limiting the Cards to four singles for his fifth victory.

Yanks Option Jensen; Call Up Cerv, Weisler

New York, Aug. 1, (AP) — The New York Yankees have called up two of the most prized prospects in the minors in a bid to bolster their third straight American League pennant drive.

To make room for the newcomers, the Yanks optioned outfielder Jack Jensen to Kansas City and sold outfielder Cliff Mapes to the St. Louis Browns.

Whittaker's Pitching and Homer Wins for Old Capitals, 3 to 2

Burdette Whittaker, Old Capital Motors' accomplished right hander, recovered his early season magic to pitch the Old Caps to a thrilling 3 to 2 victory over Ferraro's Bowlodrome in Tuesday's City League feature.

Bowlodrome crashed through for two runs in the first on singles by Jackie Ferraro, Ralph Tiano and Ronnie Mauro and a pair of Old Cap miscues.

Barringer's fly to Petromale in short left field with the bases loaded made it 2-1 in the Old Cap half. Felipe launched the rally with a single and beat Petromale's poor relay to the plate for the run.

Singles by Barringer and Olen and a passed ball made it 2-2 in the fifth and Whittaker's circuit clout furnished the winning margin in the sixth.

Messinger's Memos:

Boulevard Gulf, which still has an outside chance of crashing into first place, sends undefeated Bill Tierney (4-0) against Jones Dairy's Tommy Fisher in this evening's game. Whittaker gave up only two hits after the first inning. Olen, Old Cap catcher and Mauro, Ferraro shortstop, were the only players with two hits. A regular meeting of the league will be held on Friday. All managers and officials are requested to be present.

Celler Warns Third Major League Should Be Given Chance to Form

Calls Present Setup Intolerable

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—Chairman Celler (D.-N.Y.) of a House Judiciary Subcommittee investigating organized baseball said today that having major leagues only in the eastern states is "intolerable."

"There must be chances," he told newsmen. "And I'm going to insist on it. We can't have this iron-clad system forever."

The committee, trying to determine whether baseball should be exempt from Anti-Trust Laws, looked today to two minor league spokesmen for further information.

They are Harry Simmons, public relations man for the International League, and George Trautman, president of the minor leagues' National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs.

Celler's blast today was touched off by the testimony yesterday of Ford Frick, National League president, regarding the rejection of major league status to the Pacific Coast League.

Frick explained to the committee that the major league agreement specified that there shall be two major leagues.

And this would have to be changed by a vote of the club owners, he said, if any other league were to succeed in going big time.

Door Is Open

The National and the American—the only two major loops—operate east of the Mississippi. West coast fans and clubs in the Pacific Coast League are urging expansion of big time ball in their direction.

Frick pointed out that the minor leagues also would have to change their rules before any existing loop could make a bid for major rating.

But he insisted that whenever the Pacific Coast League "has a burning desire" to become a major loop no one will stand in its way.

Celler, a Brooklyn Dodger fan, was joined by Reps. Hillings (R.-Calif.) and Keating (R.-N.Y.), in showing a sympathetic interest in a major circuit for the west coast.

The committee agreed readily to Celler's suggestion that Leslie O'Connor, one-time assistant to the late high commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis and now counsel for the Pacific Coast League, be called later to shed more light on the situation.

Colonials Drop Third Straight One-Run Decision in Oneonta, 3-2

Sold to Rome

Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., today announced the sale of Lou Kramberg, Colonial rightfielder, to the Rome Colonels on a straight cash basis.

The purchase price was not disclosed.

The Colonials also announced the signing of Dick Ostrander, veteran Border League flinger, who will join the club in Gloversville tonight.

An early season batting sensation, Kramberg, a power hitter when he's clicking, slumped dismally until about a week ago when he began to show signs of life.

Kramberg's sale leaves the Colonials with an outfield composed of Sam Piacentino in left, Scotty Tortoriello in center and Bill O'Brien in right. The latter apparently will be retained for the season.

Tortoriello missed the last two games because of illness in the family but will be in the lineup against Gloversville tonight.

A special meeting of the officials and directors of KBC has been called for 8 o'clock tonight at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

Colorado's State Flower

Colorado chose the white and lavender columbine as its state flower in 1899 because—according to local authorities—the blue represents western skies; the white, snowy mountain ranges, and gold, the mineral which first attracted settlers in 1858.

Win in Eleventh Gives Red Sox Sweep of Series

Ayers Loses in Relief; Go to Gloversville

If our Colonials aren't impressed by James Fenimore Cooper's glowing descriptions of the country around Oneonta and nearby Lake Otsego, you can't blame them.

Heading for Gloversville where the pitching is easier, Manager John Sosh's slump-ridden charges probably wish they had never seen those beautiful Ostego hills.

It was plain murder the way the league-leading Red Sox grabbed three one-run decisions in two days, while limiting the Colonials to three runs and 11 hits.

Last night's 3 to 2 loss in 11 innings was the final crusher. Charlie Ayers was tagged with the setback but youthful Charlie, Bobby Kunze, who made his first start, and Charlie Borden had restricted the powerful Red Sox to just six runs and 13 hits, par for the course under normal circumstances.

Both in Slump

Obviously, the situation around Oneonta the past few days was not normal. Steve Shields, the Oneonta sports editor said "We're in a slump." Meaning, the Red Sox, of course. What does that make the Colonials.

Bobby Kunze yielded only five hits in the regulation nine innings. He walked five and struck out the same number and gave solid indication that he would be a big factor in the remainder of the schedule.

Ayers, who had lost a toughie the night before, pitched a scoreless tenth but the Osox wrapped him up quickly in the bottom of the 11th.

Bob Guttilla walked. Archie Getgen sacrificed. Arnie Spence doubled to right center. And it was all over, just as quickly as that.

Gavel, the Oneonta starter, allowed only two hits in eight innings but had only a 2-2 tie to show for his efforts. Charlie Gersten, who finished the game, was credited with the victory.

The Colonials picked up their first run in the fifth on Bill O'Brien's walk; Bobby Kunze's sacrifice and Dennis Healey's single to right. Healey walked, advanced on Jack Bickett's sacrifice and scored on Gene Zubrinski's single to center in the eighth. Zubrinski singled with one out in the 11th but the Colonials were not able to move him.

Zubrinski had two of the Colonials' three hits, both singles, while the six Oneonta safeties went to six different players.

Cleveland's onrushing Indians loomed today as the chief threat to New York's hopes of retaining the American League crown now that Boston's Red Sox are showing signs of losing their magic touch at Fenway Park.

Continuing to rebound from two straight lickings at Yankee Stadium, the Indians last night made it four victories in their last five games by conquering the Senators in Washington, 5-3.

The triumph gave the Tribe undisputed possession of second place, two games behind the Yankees and one in front of the third place Red Sox.

The Red Sox, in absorbing a shocking 8-6 setback at the hands of the lowly St. Louis Browns, now have lost four out of seven since returning to Fenway Park where they were believed to be well-nigh invincible.

Chicago's first half season flashes continued to plunge downward, dropping a 4-2 decision to the Philadelphia Athletics. The defeat, the 10th in their last 11 games, dropped the fourth place White Sox a discouraging seven and a half games behind the idle Yankees.

Dodgers Sailing

The arrival of August finds the Brooklyn Dodgers sailing along serenely with a nine and half game advantage in what is laughingly called the National League pennant race. The runaway Dodgers ran their victory skein to 10 in a row with an 8-3 win in Pittsburgh.

New York's runner-up Giants kept pace with a 4-3 victory in Chicago. Philadelphia's defending champion Phillies swept past St. Louis into third place with a 7-5 triumph in Cincinnati while the Boston Braves were shutting out the Cardinals, 6-0.

Bob Feller, baseball's biggest winner, notched his 16th triumph as the Indians rallied for three runs in the top of the ninth to overcome a 3-2 Washington lead. Righthander Don Johnson retired the first batter in the ninth but never got another man out.

Ned Garver, Brownie ace, appeared on the way to his 14th victory but was forced to leave in the fifth inning after pulling a muscle in his left leg. Satchell Paige, who took over, picked up the victory although he was shelled in a three-run eighth.

Hank Majeski, obtained from Chicago in a mid-season deal, paced the Athletics to their win over the White Sox. The slugging third baseman made three of Philadelphia's eight hits, scored three runs and homered against his former mates.

Don Newcombe hurled his 15th win for Brooklyn as the Dodgers hammered Howie Pollet and three successors for 16 hits. Newcombe starred at bat, too, with three hits, Duke Snider and Pee Wee Reese homered for the league leaders.

Bobby Thomson drove in all New York's runs with a pair of homers in the Giants' victory over the Cubs. Jim Hearn was credited with his 10th victory although he needed help from Sheldon Jones and Sal Maglie.

The Phils, still smarting from Manager Eddie Sawyer's tongue-lashing on slacking, rallied for six runs in the ninth to overcome a 5-1 deficit and whip the Reds, 7-5. Del Ennis' three-run homer off Howie Fox highlighted the assault.

Rookie Chet Nichols hurled the shutout for the Braves, limiting the Cards to four singles for his fifth victory.

Yanks Option Jensen; Call Up Cerv, Weisler

New York, Aug. 1, (AP) — The New York Yankees have called up two of the most prized prospects in the minors in a bid to bolster their third straight American League pennant drive.

Plucked from their Kansas City American Association farm in an involved transaction are left-handed pitcher Bob Wiesler and Bob Cerv, hard-hitting outfielder.

To make room for the newcomers, the Yanks optioned outfielder Jack Jensen to Kansas City and sold outfielder Cliff Mapes to the St. Louis Browns.

The first inter-city all-star softball game on record between Kingston and Poughkeepsie will be staged today at 6:30 p. m. at Block Park.

Starting lineup announced for Kingston: 1b — Sonny Woods; 2b—Nick Carl; 3b—Joe Woods; ss—Form Coughlin; lf—Tom Kearney; cf—Joe Sedor; rf—Ed Schussler; c—Walt Matheus.

Whittaker's Pitching and Homer Wins for Old Capitals, 3 to 2

Burdette Whittaker, Old Capital Motors' accomplished right hander, recovered his early season magic to pitch the Old Caps to a thrilling 3 to 2 victory over Ferraro's Bowlodrome in Tuesday's City League feature.

Yielding only five hits, while fanning six, Whittaker pitched shutout ball after the first inning and stroked a game-winning homer with the bases empty in the sixth.

Big Jack Watzka, making his first start for the Bowlodrome after an enforced idleness of several weeks because of arm trouble, tossed a creditable eight-hitter and was firmly in contention until Whittaker lined one of his fast balls over the left field fence with one out in the sixth.

Bowlodrome crashed through for two runs in the first on singles by Jackie Ferraro, Ralph Tiano and Ronnie Mauro and a pair of Old Cap miscues.

Barringer's fly to Petromale in short left field with the bases loaded made it 2-1 in the Old Cap half. Felipe launched the rally with a single and beat Petromale's poor relay to the plate for the run.

Singles by Barringer and Olen and a passed ball made it 2-2 in the fifth and Whittaker's circuit clout furnished the winning margin in the sixth.

Messinger's Memos:

Boulevard Gulf, which still has an outside chance of crashing into first place, sends undefeated Bill Tierney (4-0) against Jones Dairy's Tommy Fisher in this evening's game. Whittaker gave up only two hits after the first inning. Olen, Old Cap catcher and Mauro, Ferraro shortstop, were the only players with two hits. A regular meeting of the league will be held on Friday. All managers and officials are requested to be present.

Celler Warns Third Major League Should Be Given Chance to Form

Calls Present Setup Intolerable

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—Chairman Celler (D.-N.Y.) of a House Judiciary Subcommittee investigating organized baseball said today that having major leagues only in the eastern states is "intolerable."

"There must be chances," he told newsmen. "And I'm going to insist on it. We can't have this iron-clad system forever."

The committee, trying to determine whether baseball should be exempt from Anti-Trust Laws, looked today to two minor league spokesmen for further information.

They are Harry Simmons, public relations man for the International League, and George Trautman, president of the minor leagues' National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs.

Celler's blast today was touched off by the testimony yesterday of Ford Frick, National League president, regarding the rejection of major league status to the Pacific Coast League.

Frick explained to the committee that the major league agreement specified that there shall be two major leagues.

And this would have to be changed by a vote of the club owners, he said, if any other league were to succeed in going big time.

Door Is Open

The National and the American —the only two major loops—operate east of the Mississippi. West coast fans and clubs in the Pacific Coast League are urging expansion of big time ball in their direction.

Frick pointed out that the minor leagues also would have to change their rules before any existing loop could make a bid for major rating.

But he insisted that whenever the Pacific Coast League "has a burning desire" to become a major loop no one will stand in its way.

Building of Vaults Continues in Iron Mountain Area

Catskill, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Deep inside the crest of Iron Mountain, six miles across the Hudson river, workmen are developing what the builder believes is "the safest place in the world."

The Iron Mountain atomic vaults, built in a series of three arteries that burrow some 550 feet into the heart of the mountain, may someday house valuable securities and documents.

The first phase of the project that began Jan. 1 is nearing completion. More than 100 storage valuts of steel and concrete, each equipped with a solid steel door and combination lock, have been completed. This man-made cavern eventually will contain 400,000 cubic feet of storage space.

May Go On 2 Years

Work may continue another two years, depending upon the demand for storage space. Herman Knaust, a Catskill industrialist who is building the vaults, said initial tests indicated the tomblike vaults, some buried 250 feet below the crest of the mountain, will withstand the effects of the most powerful explosive force now in the hands of man.

Iron Mountain, from its roots to its peak, has a soil content of 45 per cent iron ore. A chunk of rock taken from its innards will weight nearly twice as much as ordinary stone, Knaust said.

About 600 workmen, a majority of them displaced persons from Europe, now are engaged in the Iron Mountain project.

Masterminds Are Sought in Probe

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—The district attorney's office says it is still after the alleged masterminds of a $2,000,000-a-year fire department extortion ring — including James J. Moran, political crony of former Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Four ex-firemen, sentenced yesterday to prison terms ranging from five to 20 years, were described by authorities as pawns for the alleged ringleaders.

The four were convicted of extorting money from fuel oil installers, who needed their approval to put in equipment. Trial testimony named Moran, a former deputy fire commissioner, as their superior in the shakedown.

Assistant District Attorney Alfred Scotti told General Sessions Judge John A. Mullen that he was "making every effort to bring * * * other culprits more important than the defendants to justice."

Defense counsel, moving for a month's stay to file appeals and seek bond, said that "it is a pity Moran and the others were not before the court."

Stay Is Granted

Judge Mullen granted the stay until Aug. 30, and observers immediately pointed out that this action leaves the way open for reduced penalties for the defendants if they give the prosecutor needed information.

Scotti has said Moran was not brought to trial because there was no corroborative evidence against him.

Testimony before the U. S. Senate Crime Committee cost Moran a lifetime job as city water commissioner. O'Dwyer had appointed Moran to this post before the mayor resigned to become ambassador to Mexico.

Moran is appealing a five-year federal prison sentence imposed for perjury, stemming from his testimony before the senators about a Brooklyn numbers racketeer.

Wins Office on Recount

Centralia, Ill., (AP)—An election candidate finally won his office—two months after he apparently tied then lost by a coin toss. Democrat Paul Droit won the toss for Brushy township commissioner in Saline county, Ill. But Republican Oval Hankins' demand for a court recount gave Hankins a one vote victory.

State Probe Hits Snags of Silence Over Bail Funds

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—A New York state probe of the Civil Rights Congress Bail Funds, bondsman for jailed Communists, seems to be running up against the same wall of silence that stymied federal authorities.

Four trustees of the fund have refused to produce books and other data on the organization for a State Banking Department inquiry, state officials indicate.

The trustees' refusal to give the same data to federal courts and a federal grand jury resulted in the quartet landing in jail for contempt sentences ranging from six to nine months.

Government officials contend the data is needed in the hunt for four convicted fugitive Reds, who jumped $80,000 bail posted by the CRC fund.

Violations Checked

State officials in their investigation are seeking to determine whether state laws were violated in connection with deposits in the fund made by "the general public."

The trustees had been called before the state inquiry a number of times in the past week.

After three hours in the closed hearing room with the handcuffed trustees, Donald H. Aiken, deputy superintendent of banks, said:

"The books and records were not produced. There were no other important developments."

Aiken then said he would not recall the trustees, indicating there was no point in questioning them further.

Can Turn It Over

Superintendent of Banks William A. Lyon, after review of the case, can turn it over to the state attorney general for action, including possible requests for penalties of $200-a-day since July 12, against each trustee, for not having produced the data.

CRC officials have described the state inquiry as just another effort to get the names of contributors to the bail fund since the federal attempts failed.

The four trustees are millionaire Leftist Frederick Vanderbilt Field, mystery writer Dashiell Hammett, W. Alphaeus Hunton, and Abner Green. The CRC is on the U. S. attorney general's subversive list.

Muriel Patterson, the fund's bookkeeper, will be questioned tomorrow.

Combined Operations Are Viewed as Answer

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The United States Navy thinks it has the answer—through combined air operations—to any submarine menace.

Testifying before the House Appropriations Committee on the 1952 defense budget, Vice Admiral John H. Cassady, deputy chief of naval operations, said:

"We have been pushing our anti-submarine warfare aircraft program vigorously, both by modification of existing aircraft models and by design of new ones. We believe that by combined operations, of land plane and sea plane patrol squadrons, together with carrier based hunter-killer air groups, we can control the submarine menace."

Admiral Cassady did not elaborate nor did he mention Russia. He had just told the committee there had been no enemy submarine action in the Korean war. The committee made public his testimony today.

Will Arm Cargo Vessels

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The navy plans to start arming its own cargo vessels, and ships now operated by the coast guard, for the first time since the end of World War 2. Navy testimony released by the House Appropriations Committee today revealed the program. Some 25 cargo ships and tankers of the navy military sea transportation service and an undisclosed number of coast guard vessels are to get guns and radar.

Romance in Cominform

Belgrade, (AP)—Cupid still does a brisk business in Yugoslavia despite a severe housing shortage, the hardships of a rebuilding country, and the constant threat of war and invasion from the Russian-led Cominform. Government statistics show that there have been an average of 500 marriages a day since the end of the war, as against the daily average of 50 divorces during the period.

Stricken With Polio

Newport R. I., Aug. 1 (AP)—The navy reported yesterday that Ens. Arthur W. McCarthy of 116th street, Kew Gardens, N. Y., and four other navy men have been stricken with polio aboard the destroyer, Fiske, homeward bound to Newport after action in Korean waters. Rear Admiral Frank G. Fahrion, commander destroyer forces, Atlantic Fleet, said that Fiske and three other destroyers would arrive here Aug. 8, two days ahead of schedule. He said McCarthy and two other of the men had been transferred to the 97th Army General Hospital at Frankfurt, Germany, where their condition was "good." The four destroyers previously were temporarily quarantined at Gibraltar because of two polio cases.

Building of Vaults Continues in Iron Mountain Area

Catskill, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Deep inside the crest of Iron Mountain, six miles across the Hudson river, workmen are developing what the builder believes is "the safest place in the world."

The Iron Mountain atomic vaults, built in a series of three arteries that burrow some 550 feet into the heart of the mountain, may someday house valuable securities and documents.

The first phase of the project that began Jan. 1 is nearing completion. More than 100 storage valuts of steel and concrete, each equipped with a solid steel door and combination lock, have been completed. This man-made cavern eventually will contain 400,000 cubic feet of storage space.

May Go On 2 Years

Work may continue another two years, depending upon the demand for storage space. Herman Knaust, a Catskill industrialist who is building the vaults, said initial tests indicated the tomblike vaults, some buried 250 feet below the crest of the mountain, will withstand the effects of the most powerful explosive force now in the hands of man.

Iron Mountain, from its roots to its peak, has a soil content of 45 per cent iron ore. A chunk of rock taken from its innards will weight nearly twice as much as ordinary stone, Knaust said.

About 600 workmen, a majority of them displaced persons from Europe, now are engaged in the Iron Mountain project.

Masterminds Are Sought in Probe

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—The district attorney's office says it is still after the alleged masterminds of a $2,000,000-a-year fire department extortion ring — including James J. Moran, political crony of former Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Four ex-firemen, sentenced yesterday to prison terms ranging from five to 20 years, were described by authorities as pawns for the alleged ringleaders.

The four were convicted of extorting money from fuel oil installers, who needed their approval to put in equipment. Trial testimony named Moran, a former deputy fire commissioner, as their superior in the shakedown.

Assistant District Attorney Alfred J. Scotti told General Sessions Judge John A. Mullen that he was "making every effort to bring * * * other culprits more important than the defendants to justice."

Defense counsel, moving for a month's stay to file appeals and seek bond, said that "it is a pity Moran and the others were not before the court."

Stay Is Granted

Judge Mullen granted the stay until Aug. 30, and observers immediately pointed out that this action leaves the way open for reduced penalties for the defendants if they give the prosecutor needed information.

Scotti has said Moran was not brought to trial because there was no corroborative evidence against him.

Testimony before the U. S. Senate Crime Committee cost Moran a lifetime job as city water commissioner. O'Dwyer had appointed Moran to this post before the mayor resigned to become ambassador to Mexico.

Moran is appealing a five-year federal prison sentence imposed for perjury, stemming from his testimony before the senators about a Brooklyn numbers racketeer.

Wins Office on Recount

Centralia, Ill., (AP)—An election candidate finally won his office—two months after he apparently tied then lost by a coin toss. Democrat Paul Droit won the toss for Brushy township commissioner in Saline county, Ill. But Republican Oval Hankins' demand for a court recount gave Hankins a one vote victory.

State Probe Hits Snags of Silence Over Bail Funds

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—A New York state probe of the Civil Rights Congress Bail Funds, bondsman for jailed Communists, seems to be running up against the same wall of silence that stymied federal authorities.

Four trustees of the fund have refused to produce books and other data on the organization for a State Banking Department inquiry, state officials indicate.

The trustees' refusal to give the same data to federal courts and a federal grand jury resulted in the quartet landing in jail for contempt sentences ranging from six to nine months.

Government officials contend the data is needed in the hunt for four convicted fugitive Reds, who jumped $80,000 bail posted by the CRC fund.

Violations Checked

State officials in their investigation are seeking to determine whether state laws were violated in connection with deposits in the fund made by "the general public."

The trustees had been called before the state inquiry a number of times in the past week.

After three hours in the closed hearing room with the handcuffed trustees, Donald H. Aiken, deputy superintendent of banks, said:

"The books and records were not produced. There were no other important developments."

Aiken then said he would not recall the trustees, indicating there was no point in questioning them further.

Can Turn It Over

Superintendent of Banks William A. Lyon, after review of the case, can turn it over to the state attorney general for action, including possible requests for penalties of $200-a-day since July 12, against each trustee, for not having produced the data.

CRC officials have described the state inquiry as just another effort to get the names of contributors to the bail fund since the federal attempts failed.

The four trustees are millionaire Leftist Frederick Vanderbilt Field, mystery writer Dashiell Hammett, W. Alphaeus Hunton, and Abner Green. The CRC is on the U. S. attorney general's subversive list.

Muriel Patterson, the fund's bookkeeper, will be questioned tomorrow.

Combined Operations Are Viewed as Answer

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The United States Navy thinks it has the answer—through combined air operations—to any submarine menace.

Testifying before the House Appropriations Committee on the 1952 defense budget, Vice Admiral John H. Cassady, deputy chief of naval operations, said:

"We have been pushing our anti-submarine warfare aircraft program vigorously, both by modification of existing aircraft models and by design of new ones. We believe that by combined operations, of land plane and sea plane patrol squadrons, together with carrier based hunter-killer air groups, we can control the submarine menace."

Admiral Cassady did not elaborate nor did he mention Russia. He had just told the committee there had been no enemy submarine action in the Korean war. The committee made public his testimony today.

Will Arm Cargo Vessels

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The navy plans to start arming its own cargo vessels, and ships now operated by the coast guard, for the first time since the end of World War 2. Navy testimony released by the House Appropriations Committee today revealed the program. Some 25 cargo ships and tankers of the navy military sea transportation service and an undisclosed number of coast guard vessels are to get guns and radar.

Stricken With Polio

Newport R. I., Aug. 1 (AP)—The navy reported yesterday that Ens. Arthur W. McCarthy of 116th street, Kew Gardens, N. Y., and four other navy men have been stricken with polio aboard the destroyer, Fiske, homeward bound to Newport after action in Korean waters. Rear Admiral Frank G. Fahrion, commander destroyer forces, Atlantic Fleet, said that Fiske and three other destroyers would arrive here Aug. 8, two days ahead of schedule. He said McCarthy and two other of the men had been transferred to the 97th Army General Hospital at Frankfurt, Germany, where their condition was "good." The four destroyers previously were temporarily quarantined at Gibraltar because of two polio cases.

Waives Extradition

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Thomasine Byrne Fitzharris, 62, of LaGrangeville, waived extradition today to Portland, Ore., where she faces a 180-day jail sentence for larceny. County Judge John R. Schwartz in refusing to grant bail to Mrs. Fitzharris remarked, "I have never seen a criminal record which involved so many arrests or convictions." Her police record covered the span 1908-1944 and showed she had jumped bail at least five times, the judge said.

Bill Signed 'Reluctantly'

A dour-looking President Truman holds the new economic control bill after he signed it "reluctantly" July 31 and condemned it as "gravely deficient." The President blasted the measure for wiping out slaughter quotas on beef and "encouraging the return of black markets." (AP Wirephoto)

Trautman Sees End

it. We can't have this iron-clad system forever."

However, Celler said inferences have been "incorrectly drawn" that the committee and the chairman himself believe that the Pacific Coast League should be given major league status.

Impression Is Wrong

"I do have a very strong feeling that the people in control of the major league should do some constructive thinking on the whole problem of the location of major leagues franchises."

In a 31-page statement for the committee, Trautman made no direct comment to the argument that has boiled up at each of the previous hearings.

But he said:

"I assert most emphatically that territorial limits are necessary to the preservation of minor league baseball."

Territorial limits keep the St. Louis Browns, say, from moving to Milwaukee, Houston or the west coast.

And so fiercely are these riches guarded, the committee was told yesterday, that no changes have been made in the major league picture in 48 years.

Last change: When the Highlanders, later to become the Yankees, moved into New York.

Is Losing Business

Trautman contended that baseball is a losing business in the minors and if its territorial rights are not protected, it will fold up altogether.

He painted a sorry picture of minor league finances. A survey of 18 leagues last year showed, he said, that 65 per cent of the clubs were losing money.

"The operation of a minor league club is most assuredly no bonanza," the boss of the minors said sadly.

His conclusion:

"If one club is not supported in a territory under present conditions, it would seem to follow that two clubs could not prosper."

The reserve clause, another spot which has attracted considerable congressional probing, also got a strong defense from Trautman.

He pointed out that less than 10 players now in the majors had no minor league experience. But, he said, the minors are a dead duck if the reserve clause ever is taken away from them.

Trautman's Viewpoint

Trautman put it this way:

"If these clubs do not have the protection of the reserve clause to give them continuity of players for their teams the incentive of maintaining the clubs would be lost.

"The history of baseball discloses that without the protection of the reserve clause the smaller and weaker clubs are quickly eliminated."

Under the reserve clause, a player is, in effect, bound to stay with the team which first signs him until he is sold, traded or released.

The expansion, or change, of the major leagues has been discussed repeatedly during the three-day hearing. The committee is trying to determine whether baseball should be exempt from anti-trust laws.

Union Says Contracts Vital to Employment

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—The CIO Textile Workers Union of America (TWUA) says the industry needs government contracts to overcome unemployment in textile mills.

Emil Rieve, union president, says almost every branch of the textile industry has been affected by a drop in production.

Rieve made his statement yesterday at the same time the union announced it had sent a telegram to President Truman urging quick action on government textile purchases.

The union statement contrasted with an almost simultaneous announcement from a management spokesman, who said union officials were threatening a strike of 25,000 men in the New York and Philadelphia areas in a contract dispute.

The management spokesman, without referring to the union plea for government contracts, said month-long contract negotiations with the union had broken down.

Negotiations were between the TWUA and the Guild Yarns Labor Conference, an employer group made up of 11 worsted yarns dyers and processors.

Woman Stricken Ill Is Hospital Patient

Mrs. Grace Robinson, 32, of 62 Farrelly street, was reported as in "apparently good" condition at the Benedictine Hospital today following treatment from the effects of near suffocation in her home yesterday when she became suddenly ill and apparently had fallen in a clothes closet.

Police and neighbors conducted a search for her yesterday afternoon, and a police report at 6 p. m., said she was unconscious when finally found in the closet.

Officers Francis Fagan and Louis Sapp, Jr., administered artificial respiration before she was conveyed to the hospital in a Conner ambulance, the report said.

Lodge Hints . . .

in Europe would total 400,000 by the end of a year. Collins testified yesterday.

Senator Connally (D.-Tex.) who is presiding told reporters that Collins set the total for U. S. ground and air force contributions at 344,000 by the end of fiscal 1952. That was some 56,000 less than Marshall had said would be sent to Europe.

Brewster said Marshall had made "a serious mistake." Connally called it "just one of those things" resulting from hurried testimony and "estimates that were a little loose."

Wilson Says . . .

sure the entire community shares my disappointment.

"Indeed, I am at a complete loss to understand the decision, because the three-man committee of the Board, which had been appointed to study the problem, had unanimously recommended that the branch be established. In addition, the State Banking Department had recommended the project. In the face of these recommendations, it is difficult to understand why a majority of the board rejected the proposal.

Expresses Appreciation

"On behalf of the people of the Town of Woodstock I want to express our sincere thanks to Messrs. George F. Kaufman, Fabian Russell and Holly Cantine, who constituted the committee of the board of directors who studied and recommended the project. Our thanks also goes to the other directors who voted for the project.

"The committee gave us full cooperation and I feel that the people of Woodstock in turn did their share in providing assurances that the bank would be a success.

Determination Is Told

"We are, of course, determined to have a bank at Woodstock. We have unsuccessfully tried to induce the two largest Kingston banks to establish a branch at Woodstock. As I see it, we now have two alternatives. In the first place, we can seek to obtain Banking Department approval for the establishment of a branch of an Albany bank. An Albany bank has already stated its willingness to do this, if departmental approval can be obtained. So far such approval has been withheld for the reason that Albany is in a different banking district than Ulster county. It may be possible now, however, to obtain such approval in view of the decision of the Kingston Trust Company. The Banking Department's attitude up to this time has been, as I understand it, that before seeking to get an Albany bank to come to Woodstock we should first try to induce Kingston banks to do so.

Albany Bank Suggested

"Since we have exhausted the possibility of getting either a branch of the State of New York National Bank of Kingston or the Kingston Trust Company, the Banking Department may now look with favor on a branch of an Albany bank. We shall make every effort to get such approval.

"A second alternative, of course, would be the establishment of our own local bank. That project, too, will now receive our immediate attention. In one way or another, Woodstock will obtain banking facilities."

Three times in three days the allies attacked the hill and each time they were thrown off by bitter North Korean counterattacks. On the fourth day they took it.

Then yesterday, preceded by a withering artillery barrage, they advanced against "fool mountain" under cover of fire from "no number" hill.

Slowly the tough infantry men made their way up the rocky slopes.

They had close support from tanks that fired almost point blank into the enemy bunkers. Some of the bunkers, carved from rock, had only one entrance—their firing slit—and were defended to the death by North Koreans who had no way out. Unless, of course, they had chosen to surrender.

The victory was sweet, but it had been savage. There were allied dead and wounded. And on the slopes and in the smoking bunkers were scores of dead Communists.

Only five prisoners were taken.

President Reports

machinery, chemicals and many building materials.

By rushing the others out last night, OPS avoided the immediate necessity of rewriting the ceilings to conform to the new act, which entitles each manufacturer to pass on to buyers his full business cost increases up to July 26.

Individual price adjustments must now be made. A month ago OPS said the orders would bring consumers more rollbacks than increases. Today it said the impact on family budgets is "uncertain."

Other Developments

Yesterday brought five other major developments in the controls field:

1. The Wage Stabilization Board extended indefinitely its allowance of cost-of-living wage increases which are tied to the government's price index.

2. OPS formally abolished its slaughtering quotas, intended to prevent a flow of meat into black markets, in conformity with the new law.

It also canceled two scheduled 4½ per cent rollbacks on live cattle prices—which it has said would have cut nine or ten cents a pound from butcher-shop beef prices. Cattle prices have been rolled back as far as the new law allows for farm products.

3. OPS clamped ceilings on prices of goods exported from the U. S., to conserve home supplies and help the nation's allies combat inflation. Exporters may not add more than the pre-Korea percentage markup to current domestic prices.

Housing Expediter Goes

4. The Office of Housing Expediter, now armed with stronger rent control powers, disappeared as such. Mr. Truman ordered its main portions transferred to Eric Johnston's Economic Stabilization Agency.

Reborn as the "Office of Rent Stabilization," OHE will function under ESA as an office parallel to OPS and the wage board. There was no sign Mr. Truman would displace its head, Tighe Woods.

5. OPS poured out a dozen additional price orders, many containing rollbacks but having small impact on living costs. They affected such materials as rubber products, reclaimed rubber, brass and copper scrap, lubricating oils and greases.

Price officials insisted they were not trying to "beat" the new law or "contravene the intent of Congress." But they admitted many of the orders couldn't have been issued if they had waited until today.

OPS Director DiSalle reportedly has urged Mr. Truman to call for immediate revision of at least two sections of the law:

First, the ban on livestock slaughtering quotas. Bills already have been introduced to revive this authority.

Second, the so-called "Capehart Amendment" which—while allowing rollbacks on non-farm items to pre-Korea levels—requires OPS to recognize increases in costs of labor, materials and business "overhead" up to July 26. Senator Capehart (R.-Ind.) backed the amendment.

Hot, Hot August Is U. S. Forecast

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Weather Bureau expects August, traditional month of hot weather, to be even warmer than usual in most of the country.

It issued this long-range forecast yesterday:

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for the month of August calls for temperatures to average above the seasonal normal in most of the country with greatest departures in the central Great Plains. However, below-normal temperatures are indicated along the west coast and the southeast, while temperatures are expected to average near normal in the North Atlantic states and Ohio valley.

"Precipitation is expected to exceed the seasonal normal in the South Atlantic and east gulf states and in most of Arizona, Utah, and Colorado. Sub-normal rainfall is indicated in most of the northeast, Great Lakes, upper Mississippi valley, and Great Plains. Elsewhere near normal amounts are anticipated."

Bail Prevents Release

Los Angeles, Aug. 1 (AP)—A matter of $925,000 in bail keeps 12 indicted California Communists in jail today. Their attorneys are figuring out ways and means to get the prescribed bail reduced so they can be free pending trial but haven't announced what steps they propose to take. Four are held here, seven in San Francisco, all under $75,000 bond each, and one in New York under $100,000 bail. They are charged under the Smith Act with conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

The answers to everyday insurance problems

By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: Competition for the skilled craftsmen in my business is very keen. If a bad fire threw my men out of work I'm sure they'd be hired immediately by competitors and I wonder if there is any form of insurance which would guarantee my payroll in event of fire.

ANSWER: Yes, there is. It is variously called "Use and Occupancy" and "Business Interruption" insurance. It is a valuable protection for a business man and you should consult your agent about it.

•If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Waives Extradition

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Thomasine Byrne Fitzharris, 62, of LaGrangeville, waived extradition today to Portland, Ore., where she faces a 180-day jail sentence for larceny. County Judge John R. Schwartz in refusing to grant bail to Mrs. Fitzharris remarked, "I have never seen a criminal record which involved so many arrests or convictions." Her police record covered the span 1908-1944 and showed she had jumped bail at least five times, the judge said.

Bill Signed 'Reluctantly'

A dour-looking President Truman holds the new economic control bill after he signed it "reluctantly" July 31 and condemned it as "gravely deficient." The President blasted the measure for wiping out slaughter quotas on beef and "encouraging the return of black markets." (AP Wirephoto)

Trautman Sees End

it. We can't have this iron-clad system forever."

However, Celler said inferences have been "incorrectly drawn" that the committee and the chairman himself believe that the Pacific Coast League should be given major league status.

Impression Is Wrong

"I do have a very strong feeling that the people in control of the major league should do some constructive thinking on the whole problem of the location of major leagues franchises."

In a 31-page statement for the committee, Trautman made no direct comment to the argument that has boiled up at each of the previous hearings.

But he said:

"I assert most emphatically that territorial limits are necessary to the preservation of minor league baseball."

Territorial limits keep the St. Louis Browns, say, from moving to Milwaukee, Houston or the west coast.

And so fiercely are these riches guarded, the committee was told yesterday, that no changes have been made in the major league picture in 48 years.

Last change: When the Highlanders, later to become the Yankees, moved into New York.

Is Losing Business

Trautman contended that baseball is a losing business in the minors and if its territorial rights are not protected, it will fold up altogether.

He painted a sorry picture of minor league finances. A survey of 18 leagues last year showed, he said, that 65 per cent of the clubs were losing money.

"The operation of a minor league club is most assuredly no bonanza," the boss of the minors said sadly.

His conclusion:

"If one club is not supported in a territory under present conditions, it would seem to follow that two clubs could not prosper."

The reserve clause, another spot which has attracted considerable congressional probing, also got a strong defense from Trautman.

He pointed out that less than 10 players now in the majors had no minor league experience. But, he said, the minors are a dead duck if the reserve clause ever is taken away from them.

Trautman's Viewpoint

Trautman put it this way:

"If these clubs do not have the protection of the reserve clause to give them continuity of players for their teams the incentive of maintaining the clubs would be lost.

"The history of baseball discloses that without the protection of the reserve clause the smaller and weaker clubs are quickly eliminated."

Under the reserve clause, a player is, in effect, bound to stay with the team which first signs him until he is sold, traded or released.

The expansion, or change, of the major leagues has been discussed repeatedly during the three-day hearing. The committee is trying to determine whether baseball should be exempt from anti-trust laws.

Union Says Contracts Vital to Employment

New York, Aug. 1 (AP)—The CIO Textile Workers Union of America (TWUA) says the industry needs government contracts to overcome unemployment in textile mills.

Emil Rieve, union president, says almost every branch of the textile industry has been affected by a drop in production.

Rieve made his statement yesterday at the same time the union announced it had sent a telegram to President Truman urging quick action on government textile purchases.

The union statement contrasted with an almost simultaneous announcement from a management spokesman, who said union officials were threatening a strike of 25,000 men in the New York and Philadelphia areas in a contract dispute.

The management spokesman, without referring to the union plea for government contracts, said month-long contract negotiations with the union had broken down.

Negotiations were between the TWUA and the Guild Yarns Labor Conference, an employer group made up of 11 worsted yarns dyers and processors.

Woman Stricken Ill Is Hospital Patient

Mrs. Grace Robinson, 32, of 62 Farrelly street, was reported as in "apparently good" condition at the Benedictine Hospital today following treatment from the effects of near suffocation in her home yesterday when she became suddenly ill and apparently had fallen in a clothes closet.

Police and neighbors conducted a search for her yesterday afternoon, and a police report at 6 p. m., said she was unconscious when finally found in the closet.

Officers Francis Fagan and Louis Sapp, Jr., administered artificial respiration before she was conveyed to the hospital in a Conner ambulance, the report said.

Lodge Hints . . .

in Europe would total 400,000 by the end of a year. Collins testified yesterday.

Senator Connally (D.-Tex.) who is presiding told reporters that Collins set the total for U. S. ground and air force contributions at 344,000 by the end of fiscal 1952. That was some 56,000 less than Marshall had said would be sent to Europe.

Brewster said Marshall had made "a serious mistake." Connally called it "just one of those things" resulting from hurried testimony and "estimates that were a little loose."

Wilson Says . . .

sure the entire community shares my disappointment.

"Indeed, I am at a complete loss to understand the decision, because the three-man committee of the Board, which had been appointed to study the problem, had unanimously recommended that the branch be established. In addition, the State Banking Department had recommended the project. In the face of these recommendations, it is difficult to understand why a majority of the board rejected the proposal.

Expresses Appreciation

"On behalf of the people of the Town of Woodstock I want to express our sincere thanks to Messrs. George F. Kaufman, Fabian Russell and Holly Cantine, who constituted the committee of the board of directors who studied and recommended the project. Our thanks also goes to the other directors who voted for the project.

"The committee gave us full cooperation and I feel that the people of Woodstock in turn did their share in providing assurances that the bank would be a success.

Determination Is Told

"We are, of course, determined to have a bank at Woodstock. We have unsuccessfully tried to induce the two largest Kingston banks to establish a branch at Woodstock. As I see it, we now have two alternatives. In the first place, we can seek to obtain Banking Department approval for the establishment of a branch of an Albany bank. An Albany bank has already stated its willingness to do this, if departmental approval can be obtained. So far such approval has been withheld for the reason that Albany is in a different banking district than Ulster county. It may be possible now, however, to obtain such approval in view of the decision of the Kingston Trust Company. The Banking Department's attitude up to this time has been, as I understand it, that before seeking to get an Albany bank to come to Woodstock we should first try to induce Kingston banks to do so.

Albany Bank Suggested

"Since we have exhausted the possibility of getting either a branch of the State of New York National Bank of Kingston or the Kingston Trust Company, the Banking Department may now look with favor on a branch of an Albany bank. We shall make every effort to get such approval.

"A second alternative, of course, would be the establishment of our own local bank. That project, too, will now receive our immediate attention. In one way or another, Woodstock will obtain banking facilities."

Allies Take . . .

in flanking fire on the main positions.

Three times in three days the allies attacked the hill and each time they were thrown off by bitter North Korean counterattacks. On the fourth day they took it.

Then yesterday, preceded by a withering artillery barrage, they advanced against "fool mountain" under cover of fire from "no number" hill.

Slowly the tough infantry men made their way up the rocky slopes.

They had close support from tanks that fired almost point blank into the enemy bunkers. Some of the bunkers, carved from rock, had only one entrance—their firing slit—and were defended to the death by North Koreans who had no way out. Unless, of course, they had chosen to surrender.

The victory was sweet, but it had been savage. There were allied dead and wounded. And on the slopes and in the smoking bunkers were scores of dead Communists.

Only five prisoners were taken.

President Reports

machinery, chemicals and many building materials.

By rushing the others out last night, OPS avoided the immediate necessity of rewriting the ceilings to conform to the new act, which entitles each manufacturer to pass on to buyers his full business cost increases up to July 26.

Individual price adjustments must now be made. A month ago OPS said the orders would bring consumers more rollbacks than increases. Today it said the impact on family budgets is "uncertain."

Other Developments

Yesterday brought five other major developments in the controls field:

1. The Wage Stabilization Board extended indefinitely its allowance of cost-of-living wage increases which are tied to the government's price index.

2. OPS formally abolished its slaughtering quotas, intended to prevent a flow of meat into black markets, in conformity with the new law.

It also canceled two scheduled 4½ per cent rollbacks on live cattle prices—which it has said would have cut nine or ten cents a pound from butcher-shop beef prices. Cattle prices have been rolled back as far as the new law allows for farm products.

3. OPS clamped ceilings on prices of goods exported from the U. S., to conserve home supplies and help the nation's allies combat inflation. Exporters may not add more than the pre-Korea percentage markup to current domestic prices.

Housing Expediter Goes

4. The Office of Housing Expediter, now armed with stronger rent control powers, disappeared as such. Mr. Truman ordered its main portions transferred to Eric Johnston's Economic Stabilization Agency.

Reborn as the "Office of Rent Stabilization," OHE will function under ESA as an office parallel to OPS and the wage board. There was no sign Mr. Truman would displace its head, Tighe Woods.

5. OPS poured out a dozen additional price orders, many containing rollbacks but having small impact on living costs. They affected such materials as rubber products, reclaimed rubber, brass and copper scrap, lubricating oils and greases.

Price officials insisted they were not trying to "beat" the new law or "contravene the intent of Congress." But they admitted many of the orders couldn't have been issued if they had waited until today.

OPS Director DiSalle reportedly has urged Mr. Truman to call for immediate revision of at least two sections of the law:

First, the ban on livestock slaughtering quotas. Bills already have been introduced to revive this authority.

Second, the so-called "Capehart Amendment" which—while allowing rollbacks on non-farm items to pre-Korea levels—requires OPS to recognize increases in costs of labor, materials and business "overhead" up to July 26. Senator Capehart (R.-Ind.) backed the amendment.

Hot, Hot August Is U. S. Forecast

Washington, Aug. 1 (AP)—The Weather Bureau expects August, traditional month of hot weather, to be even warmer than usual in most of the country.

It issued this long-range forecast yesterday:

"The Weather Bureau's 30-day outlook for the month of August calls for temperatures to average above the seasonal normal in most of the country with greatest departures in the central Great Plains. However, below-normal temperatures are indicated along the west coast and the southeast, while temperatures are expected to average near normal in the North Atlantic states and Ohio valley.

"Precipitation is expected to exceed the seasonal normal in the South Atlantic and east gulf states and in most of Arizona, Utah, and Colorado. Sub-normal rainfall is indicated in most of the northeast, Great Lakes, upper Mississippi valley, and Great Plains. Elsewhere near normal amounts are anticipated."

Bail Prevents Release

Los Angeles, Aug. 1 (AP)—A matter of $925,000 in bail keeps 12 indicted California Communists in jail today. Their attorneys are figuring out ways and means to get the prescribed bail reduced so they can be free pending trial but haven't announced what steps they propose to take. Four are held here, seven in San Francisco, all under $75,000 bond each, and one in New York under $100,000 bail. They are charged under the Smith Act with conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. government.
